

APRIL MOTOR TOLL HEAVY

Despite a decided drop in the number of accidents, six more people were killed and seventy more injured during April than during March in automobile mishaps reported to the State Highway Department as occurring on state highway outside municipalities, according to available statistics just released by Highway Director O. W. Merrell.

Fifty-two persons, 40 men and 12 women, met death in 617 accidents during April as compared with 46 persons, 39 men and 7 women, killed in 805 mishaps during March.

The accident decrease was believed due to the fact that skidding hazards were less in April than in the wintery month of March. Skidding comprised 7.6 per cent of the April mishaps compared to 20.9 per cent of the March accidents, a drop of 13.3 per cent.

Motor vehicle colliding with another vehicle was the leading cause of the 617 accidents during April, 314 or 51 per cent being due to this cause. Collision with a fixed object was next, accounting for 201 of 32.8 per cent of the mishaps.

The majority of the accidents took place on straightaway road—339 or 53.9 per cent.

The greatest number of mishaps, 45 in number, occurred between 3

Mrs. George O. Thurn Answers Recipe Requests For "Some Easily Made Desserts"

Dear Friends in Circleville: Puddings aren't very romantic sounding desserts, but in answer to your so-often repeated requests for "easily prepared desserts" I must give you my favorite easily prepared pudding. Almost everyone likes a plain chocolate pudding, children and grown-ups, young and old. Even the cook likes it just because it is one of the most easily prepared of the sweets.

Cream Chocolate Pudding

One half cup granulated sugar; three tablespoons cornstarch; two cups milk; two squares chocolate or four tablespoons cocoa; one fourth teaspoon salt; one teaspoon vanilla.

Mix all but the flavoring together in an enameled saucepan, cook at low heat, stirring occasionally until the mixture is steaming. Then stir vigorously until the pudding is thick. Add the vanilla. Pour into serving glasses and let chill thoroughly.

Instead of serving with cream or whipped cream, try serving it with a bitter chocolate sauce. The two chocolate flavors together are interesting.

Cup Cakes With Orange Sauce

This sauce will dress up any pudding or plain cake. For it have ready the juice and grated rind of one half lemon; juice and grate rind of one half orange; one third cup sugar; two eggs; one fourth teaspoon salt. Combine the fruit, sugar and salt with the egg yolks; beat the egg whites until stiff. Cook the first mixture at low heat, stirring constantly until thickened, then pour slowly over the beaten egg whites. Dress up plain sponge cake, or gingerbread easily.

White Layer Cake

You may say this is not an easily prepared dessert. But with the modern methods of cooking in regulated ovens, and with the accuracy of tested cookery ingredients, found today on every grocer's shelf, there is no failure with such a cake as this:

Two thirds cup shortening; one and one half cups granulated sugar; two and one half cups flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one fourth teaspoon salt; two thirds cup milk; one half teaspoon lemon extract; one half teaspoon vanilla extract; six egg whites.

Blend the shortening and sugar together; sift the flour, measure it and sift again with the salt and baking powder; add alternately with the milk to the sugar mixture; add flavoring and strain the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into two layer cake pans rubbed with shortening. Place the cake in a cold oven; set the temperature control at 375 or 400 degrees and turn on the heat. Bake forty-five to fifty minutes.

Ice with chocolate caramel fudge frosting.

Cinnamon Cakes

One half cup shortening; one cup sugar; two eggs; one half cup milk; one and three fourths cup flour; two and one half teaspoons baking powder; one tablespoon of cinnamon.

Blend the shortening and sugar, add the beaten eggs; sift the cinnamon and flour, mix with the baking powder, and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture.

Place in muffin pans rubbed with shortening. Place in a cold oven; set the temperature control at 375 degrees, or moderate, and turn on the heat. Bake for thirty-five minutes. Delicious with lemon icing, or orange sauce.

Butter Scotch Bars

One fourth cup shortening; one cup brown sugar; one egg; one cup flour; one teaspoon baking powder; one fourth teaspoon salt; three fourths cup cream; one teaspoon vanilla. One half cup chopped black walnuts, or pecans. Blend the shortening and sugar, add the beaten eggs, then the mixed and sifted dry ingredients, cream and flavoring. Spread in a square or oblong cake pan rubbed with shortening. Bake the oven at moderate heat, 30 degrees and bake 25 to 35 minutes.

Caramel Pudding

One cup light brown sugar; three tablespoons cornstarch; two cups milk; one teaspoon vanilla. Mix the sugar, cornstarch and milk in a saucepan, and heat slowly, stirring occasionally until the mixture begins to steam. Stir vigorously then, until the pudding is thick. Add the flavoring. Pour into a glass bowl and let chill thoroughly. Serve with rosettes of whipped cream decorating the top.

N. & W. SLASHES RATES FOR FAIR

Drastically reduced passenger rates, some as low as one and one-half cents a mile, season tickets, all-expense tours and other travel bargains, to Chicago for the World's Fair, were announced today by the Norfolk and Western Railway. The low tariffs are applicable from practically all stations on the railroad, and will be sold from May 26 to October 31.

The special rates, which will be good on all trains, include the following: Thirty-day limit coach fares, sold daily throughout the season, one and one-half cents a mile; 18-day limit round-trip fares (on sale daily), two cents a mile in each direction; 15-day limit tickets (on sale only Tuesday and Saturday), one fare plus 25 cents; round-trip season ticket, two and one-half cents per mile. In addition, the N. & W. is offering special fares for parties of 25 or more persons.

Best as a CEREAL

Best for COOKING

It's so convenient to keep a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a healthful ingredient in your cooking. For muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

ALL-BRAN brings your family the "bulk" that is so helpful in correcting common constipation.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. How much better than risking patent medicines!

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. This "bulk" is similar to that in leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

Special processes of cooking and flavoring make Kellogg's ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable than ordinary raw bran.

And because it is all bran—with only flavoring added—it brings you more "bulk" than part-bran products.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Munitions Prober

To Cook New Asparagus

So much argument has ensued about asparagus, whether it is a finger food or a fork food, that it is not amiss to mention the facts here. It has been decreed a fork food by the etiquette arbiters, and with a fork food it must be eaten on our tables. Whether we partake of it in public or private. With the fork, cut off an inch or two at a time, beginning with the tip end, and continue until the whole stalk is consumed.

Practically all of the green, thin variety is edible from tip to stem when in season. Of the thick green kind, shading to purple white at the stem end only the green portion is edible.

Tender asparagus does not have to be scraped when preparing it for the boiling kettle or for steaming. Wash in cold water, remove any spikes or scales from stem ends of very large stalks. Drain, tie in a bunch, stand up in a tall kettle, or asparagus cooker and fill to within one inch of the tips, with boiling water. Cover and cook gently for fifteen minutes, leaving the tips to cook in the steam. Add one teaspoon of salt and cook another five to ten minutes. Lift out. Drain, untie, and remove to a hot serving dish. Dress with brown butter, made by heating six tablespoons of butter with a little salt and pepper, melted and slightly browned.

Asparagus 'Au Gratin
For one bunch of asparagus, use six tablespoons butter; four tablespoons grated cheese; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon pepper.

Put the cooked asparagus in a baking dish keeping the tips together. Pour over them one half of the melted butter. Sprinkle with cheese, season and pour on the rest of the butter. Cover with brown paper or waxed paper, leaving the tips exposed. Place under the broiler just long enough for the cheese to melt.

The purpose of misfortune is to develop character so that we can endure more misfortune so that we can develop still more character so that we can endure still more misfortune or to put in another way, oh phooey!

Blithe, piquant, gloriously alive... MARGARET SULLAVAN

gives insight into the secrets of radiance and charm... in this letter to Betty Crocker

Read her shrewd comments on the importance of bread in a diet to promote vitality!

Dear Betty Crocker:
I do not diet. I have never found it necessary. Good health comes from reasonable eating and reasonable exercising. Attraction comes from good health, clean mind and a human heart. My meals would not be complete without some type of bread. I eat bread or rolls with every meal. I eat several kinds. I select my food with care and eat according to my appetite. My motion picture work has not demanded anything of me except common sense in this respect.

Margaret Sullivan

Swept to stardom in a single picture, Margaret Sullivan remains charmingly unaffected. A delightfully genuine young person. Slender, poised, intensely alive. In the engrossing new Universal picture, "Little Man, What Now?", she gives a deeply poignant interpretation to the role of the courageous young wife.

SCIENCE REVEALS WHY BREAD IS OUR OUTSTANDING ENERGY FOOD

In this fascinating new free book on bread, "Vitality Demands Energy", is given the scientific explanation, verified by eminent medical authorities, of why bread is our outstanding energy food. Also in this book... Betty Crocker, noted meal-planning authority, suggests 109 thrilling new ways to use bread in the well balanced diet.

Bread ENERGY FOR Vitality!

FARLEY NOT AFTER GOVERNOR'S POST

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—"Big Jim" Farley, who directs the nation's largest business enterprise—the post office department—is satisfied with his present job.

Under no conceivable circumstances will he be a candidate for governor of New York this year. He won't run, and he won't be drafted.

The genial postmaster general made this emphatically clear today in an interview, in which he said he hoped that his denial of political ambitions would squelch, once and for all, the recurrent reports that he has his eye on the New York governorship.

WHAT OF FUTURE
As for the future—well, the future is the future, and will have to take care of itself.

"I am for Gov. Lehman," he said. "He has made a great record at Albany. He deserves to be re-nominated and re-elected. And he will be. He is one of the best governors New York has ever had, and all this talk of me as a candidate is so much what Al Smith calls boloney. Gov. Lehman will run on his record, a highly creditable record, and he deserves the re-nomination and re-election that he will get in November."

"What about the future, say 1936?" he was asked.

A shrug of the Farley shoulders, and a deprecatory wave of the Farley arm.

"I don't know that I'd ever want the governorship," he said. "And that's giving you the honest answer."

"Big Jim" is really enjoying being postmaster general. The annual business he conducts is the largest in the country, greater than the steel industry, the oil business, or any other of the giant industries.

It has been in the "red" for a good many years. It is Farley's ambition to pull it out, and he is an enthusiastic over the prospects as a boy with a new rifle. He believes the postal service can be put on a paying basis, and he frankly hopes to get the credit for doing it. It might be time then, perhaps, to think of further political preferment. But not now.

Jailed on Hour Basis

DENVER.—Sentences imposed on offenders in police court here are on an hour basis now. Instead of "one day" in jail, Municipal Judge Alvin H. Pickens says "24 hours" in jail. The change in wording of the sentences was made after the revelation that several prisoners sentenced for a day in jail had been released by Deputy Warden Charles Thompson of the county lockup immediately after being booked.

NINE INJURED

the responsibility for the rioting that has resulted in the blood shed and widespread property damage.

DEMAND INCREASE

The strike was called by the automotive workers, demanding a ten percent wage increase, recognition of their union and priority rights, but the military authorities were investigating reports and rumors that the riots and violence may have been inspired by "professional labor agitators."

The iron heel of the Ohio National guard early today crashed the striking rioting—but not until after two persons had been killed, nine others shot and scores injured.

The rioting, which continued until midnight, was halted as augmented troops of guardsmen made sorties into the mob and quelled its fanatical fury by military force and precision, arresting 52 persons all of whom were held under $500 bond each and could not obtain their release.

The rioting was momentarily quelled yesterday afternoon when guardsmen fired into the mobs that milled about the plant, killing Frank Hubay, 27, and Steve Gylgon, 20. Hubay was shot four times and Gylgon was fatally wounded in the head.

"Sincere regret" was expressed by Brig. Gen. Connelly over the bloodshed during the rioting.

"But," he declared, "we must and will handle the situation. When the rush was started, some of our men were compelled to shoot to save themselves. There was no order from headquarters. Unfortunately, the crowd didn't believe we would shoot, but we are here to restore peace and we intend to do it."

USED "KNOCKOUT GAS"
The respite in the fighting late yesterday was brief, breaking out anew at dusk when the strikers and their sympathizers tore up the streets in the vicinity of the plant and began hurling rocks at the guardsmen who, in turn, used "knockout gas" freely to put the attackers to flight. On one occasion, the guardsmen were forced to restore to gunfire in which two were wounded.

A total of nine persons was wounded in the almost continuous fighting yesterday. Two score of others were hurt by flying rocks and missiles. This morning, it was conservatively estimated that at least 125 had been injured in the wild melees.

Among those injured was Lieut. Cecil Clark of Fremont, O., who was knocked down by a hurled brick as he was leading a charge of troopers against a gang of rioters. Second Lieut. Carl Goffel of Napoleon, also was injured. He was struck on the nose by another hurled missile.

Another casualty was Willie Abel, 26, star soccer player. He was shot in the hip and his condition was reported to be critical as a result of the loss of blood. It was believed a transfusion would be necessary to save his life.

The majority of the casualties, however, were due to hurled stones, rocks, bricks and clubs. Many suffered from the heavy barrage of tear gas which was laid down by the soldiers to repulse the attacks of the rioting mobs.

Gas fumes from scene of the rioting was fanned by a strong north wind last night and blown into the downtown sections, much to the discomfort of people in the business district.

FELL OFF ROOFS

During the final sortie last night, several of the rioting mob were injured when they fell from house-roofs from which they were hurling missiles at the national guardsmen.

A well-placed gas bomb was hurled on one roof and three men were seen to fall to the ground. Property damage in the vicinity of the besieged manufacturing plant was estimated at more than $225,000. Officials of the Electric Auto-Lite Co., said that damages to their plant alone would amount to at least $175,000, and it was estimated that damage to other property, including streets which were torn up, would total another $50,000.

VIC DONAHEY

from himself, but from hundreds of his supporters throughout the state. He estimated that 95 per cent of his nominating petitions were circulated by persons who voluntarily offered their services.

He has sent out but one letter inquiring about the sentiment for the three candidates mentioned for the Democratic senatorial nomination, he said. It was mailed on Feb. 10 to 150 county committee chairman and secretaries and to the same number of Democratic officeholders.

"The result of his circular letter," he declared, "was better than 60 per cent favorable to my candidacy. The percentage of Democratic officeholders who thought I should be a candidate was even greater."

When the candidacy of his former secretary of agriculture, Truax, was mentioned, Donahey said:

TRUAX HAS RIGHT

"I have not talked to Truax nor have I had anyone else talk to him about his candidacy. He has a perfect right to be a candidate. I have never tried to get rid of my opposition by keeping candidates out of the primaries."

Because Donahey is credited with giving Truax his start in state politics, some supporters of the former governor have said Truax, out of gratitude, should not seek the same nomination.

Donahey's declaration of candidacy did contain what observers interpreted as a veiled thrust at Truax, who has frequently mailed from Washington to his constituents copies of his speeches in Congress.

"Except upon individual request," said Donahey, "my speeches will not be mailed to the people of Ohio at public expense nor at my own expense."

"If I have anything to explain to the Ohio folks I will come back home and do it looking them in the eye after the vote is recorded. On the other hand, I will invite the citizens of Ohio to give me sincere and helpful information."

He said he has not asked for the primary endorsement of any County Executive Committee, "but will appreciate endorsement by votes of any county at the August Primary election."

Here are some of the planks in Donahey's partial platform:

"I believe in the honesty and sincerity of President Roosevelt."

"If elected, I shall consider it my sworn duty to recommend only honest and capable people for government positions and also to assist in bringing about removal of those unworthy of public trust."

"Selfish machine politics indulged in by either party, or by individuals, in these tragic times, is nothing less than treason."

"Excessive profits from natural resources and quasi-governmental monopoly must be regulated with an iron hand."

"Taxation methods will have to be simplified. We should devise more uniformity and do away with unscientific tax tinkering.

AGAINST INCREASE

"I will vote against any increase in federal taxation unless a real emergency exists. I will expend my every energy to secure for America an honest uniform taxation system based on ability to pay."

"Excessive profits in business promote waste, stimulate caprice and create disrespect for law. Such practices must be eradicated."

"Actual capital honestly invested is entitled to a fair earning, but all things being equal, in a conflict between human rights and property rights, my vote will go to humanity."

"There should be no relinquishment of the debts owed us by European nations."

Donahey concluded by saying he would not "pose as an intellectual giant, but I yield to no man in my understanding of the people's problems, love of country and loyalty to the people of Ohio."

Bear and Car Crash

MISSOULA, Mont.—An irresistible force, in the form of an automobile driven by H. E. Sennett, a tobacco salesman, at the rate of 45 miles per hour, through the dense forest of northwestern Montana, met a practically immovable object—a 600-pound bear. The result was a dead bruin and a demolished car. The motorist, badly bruised, succeeded in extricating himself from the wreckage.

The Month of Roses

THEY call June the month of roses. The rose has been called the queen of flowers. If a vote were taken as to the most popular blooming plant, probably the rose would be elected. "Rosy" cheeks were once considered the symbol of feminine beauty. Roses have played a great part in home life. The old-time cottage usually had its rose bushes, and their festive blooms soled the old folks for their toilsome lives.

Roses thrive best in mild and sunny climates, but they are supposed to grow almost anywhere in the temperate zone. If gardeners do not have good luck growing them, their methods of cultivation are probably faulty. They go so far to decorate a dwelling or neighborhood, that people can well be urged to plant them. They will feel well rewarded for the battle with weeds and insects, when these vines burst forth in their annual splendor.

The rose covered cottage has long been a symbol of domestic bliss. People can be happier there surrounded by this blushing loveliness, than they would expect to be in a gorgeous palace with its cares and burdens.

Roosevelt is the only man ever had a Literary Digest referendum held over him.

The Farmer's Discoveries

PERHAPS the most encouraging phase of the farmer's troubles is that they have caused him to look with a new and inquiring mind on economic and social problems.

He has discovered that the world has changed much—that methods that were good 30 years ago are disastrous now. He is finding out that no one can prosper alone in a world in which the interests of every business, every producer, are inextricably intermingled. He is finding that the co-operative ideal—whether in industry, or agriculture, or simply social relations—points the road to stability and permanence.

During the depression thousands of farmers have joined co-operatives. Thousands of others have redoubled their efforts in behalf of their co-operative, where before they simply held "passive" memberships. These are the farmers that are applying real business methods to farming and that are in the line to profit in the future.

No drought ever has a deleterious effect on the bathing beauty crop.

The concern that fails to advertise, fails to tell the public the things it wants to know.

Congress is about to adjourn, forcing the country to get along without new laws until next January.

It might have been a dream, but a West Virginia woman, taking a bath, slipped and fell out the window.

Advice to would-be writers: It is quite possible to make a living with your pen. Yes, indeed, if you have enough hogs in it.

The desire to make and earn money is nearly universal, but the disposition to earn it by giving better service is not so common.

Rulers of nations don't say it, of course. They just think it. "We can't tear the human race down and build it over, so what's the next best thing?"

A Pennsylvania candidate for a governorship nomination, whose manager said doughboys died for him in France and were willing to die for him again, lost. They died once too often.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

"Hurry, John Harmon! There's an omelet. I've learned the trick at last, but do hurry, darling, so we can gobble it up before anything happens to it!"

He came out to her then, his hair rumpled, a determined smile on his face. He helped her put the omelet and the coffee and the platter of bacon on the table. She was gay and flushed and very lovely in a crisp violet smock.

"Good day?" he asked casually, to make conversation.

"Quite. Sold a set of Balzac—a very rare set. Mr. Rose nearly wept when I wrapped it up."

"You don't find it dull?"

"Quiet but never dull. There are books that are better company than people—I'm just discovering it."

"Yes, I know. I've felt like that about some of them."

"How long did you sit up writing last night, John Harmon?"

"Oh, not so long. I didn't get anywhere, either—that's the worst of it—threw everything I wrote in to the waste-basket. The book is going stale on me, Stan."

Suddenly he stopped eating and buried his face in his hands.

"Just exactly what do you mean by that, John Harmon?"

"Just that. I can't explain it but I've lost the heart for it." Abruptly his head came up and he was speaking quickly, bitterly. "A smart novel about smart people—my heavens, Stanley, the irony of it! When the only people I ever see are so darn drab and uninteresting! You can't live the way we do and write about the sort of people that are in my book—it's a joke, a miserable joke! I'm going to ask Maynard to give me a job at the office—a regular job pounding a typewriter. It's all I'm good for anyway!"

Stanley felt her breath tighten in her throat. He had included her in "drab and uninteresting people," he had said, "You can't live the way we do." He had not meant to hurt her—hurt her—hurt her terribly. He had ruthlessly and carelessly snatched away something sweet and rather precious, that was her delight, in this life they had made together.

But more than she was hurt she was concerned for John Harmon. The book must really be going stale or he would never have spoken like that; would not be sitting there now, scowling and heavy-eyed letting her precious omelet sink slowly into a dejected heap on the platter. And the book was John Harmon—it was a definite part of him, he couldn't give it up and still be himself. John Harmon without the urge to write would be like a lamp with the flame snuffed out, a grate filled with gray ashes instead of glowing coal; just another dull person instead of a real, vital individual with a keen enthusiasm and an impetuous zest for living.

Suddenly Stanley forgot her own hurt in this clear conception of John Harmon no longer writing a novel but working in an office, his typewriter quiet, his study unused. And in her concern she spoke sharply.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself—sitting there like a sulky child, saying you won't play any more! Did you think you were never going to hit a snag, run up against difficulties and discouragement? Just because you've got talent and a spark of genius and can write pages that don't have to have a line rewritten doesn't mean you can go on that way indefinitely. The trouble with you, John Harmon, is that you've kept at it too long. What you need is to get away from it for a while—get outdoors and forget it and let your head clear up—for a month!"

"How's 'Gloria' coming?" Stanley would ask casually.

His head came up from where he had dropped it against his clenched hands. He stared at her with tortured eyes. He had expected her to understand—or had he? Anyway, she hadn't. She thought this thing that had happened to him was something that fresh air would cure! As though it was a silly headache or a fit of temper or something equally ridiculous! Then, as he stared at her, the anger went out of his eyes, out of his tightened mouth—oh, how sweet she looked, and how troubled; with that little frown between her eyes and her cheeks very pink and her hair flung back like that from her forehead—and she was his, he had held her in his arms, loved her.

"I'm a fool, darling—a selfish fool." He jumped up and went around the table and took her in his arms. Or what really happened was—he went into her arms. For the moment anyway he was the bewildered child and she the consoling mother. Perhaps in those few minutes that he knelt beside her and clung to her, John Harmon was more ingenuously with her than he had ever allowed himself to be before. For a time, at least, he forgot himself completely in the need of her; he was content to take, and in the taking he found a sweet and gentle release from the restraint which had been so much a part of his love for her.

And so it had ended—that time. But as the days went on Stanley, watching closely without seeming to do so, knew that things were still wrong with John Harmon. Never again did he say as much in words, but he didn't need to—it was there in his eyes, in the set of his shoulders, in the forced gaiety of his smile.

"How's 'Gloria' coming?" Stanley would ask casually, coming in from the bookshop at night, bringing with her a breath of crisp air, a sparkle of winter sunset.

Heed First Warning of Gall Ills

Early Treatment Will Often Result in a Complete Cure

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

Dr. Copeland

I AM OFTEN asked whether gallstones are dangerous and if they should be removed. It is true that stones may remain for years without causing distress, but it is a different matter when they are the cause of irritation and inflammation. If this happens and they are left in place they will in time severely damage the gallbladder and the bile passages.

Many persons believe gallstones can be dissolved by medicine. Unfortunately this is not possible. Once stones have formed in the gallbladder they can be removed only by mechanical means. It is too bad that the mistaken idea they can be "dissolved" is so common. There is no doubt that many decide against operation in the hope and expectation of dissolving the stones by internal medication.

Others refuse the operation because they fear that removal of the gallbladder may lead to further discomfort and annoying complaints. But it should be borne in mind that the gallbladder is not an absolutely essential organ. By this I mean that its removal does not result in harm, such as the creation of digestive or other disturbances. On the contrary, failure to get rid of a diseased gallbladder is responsible for many digestive disturbances, and impairment of health.

As I have said, the gallbladder is not a vital organ, like the kidney or the liver. It is a receptacle for storing the bile used in the process of digestion. The bile itself is formed in the liver. When the gallbladder is removed, the bile is carried from the liver directly to the upper end of the small intestine. Here it mixes with food from the stomach and aids the other digestive juices in completing digestion.

Value of X-Ray

In these modern days it is possible actually to visualize the gallbladder by means of an X-ray picture. A special dye is taken internally. This seems to cast a shadow on the X-ray plate and makes a picture which outlines the size and shape of the gallbladder. Gallstones may be the cause of an obstruction which entirely changes the picture.

My advice to every sufferer from gallbladder disturbance is to give heed to the first signs of discomfort. Early stages of inflammation respond to medical treatment. Disease of this organ can be prevented, too, by proper diet, but stones can be removed only by surgery.

Do not neglect or delay the operation. Modern surgery has minimized the dangers of this formerly dreaded operation. It is now performed with comparative safety when done at the right time. Postponement of the operation may lead to extensive inflammation and infection. This increases the dangers of surgery and prolongs convalescence.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Solving the problem of how to film some of the thrilling scenes in "I Cover the Waterfront" showing Saturday on the Cliftona screen, while the camera boats were pitching and rolling on the high seas, technicians on the staff of Director James Cruze perfected a new type of gyroscopic tripod and microphone crane that permitted perfect photography and sound recording under the most difficult conditions.

The Reliance Company, bringing the adaptation of Max Miller's best-selling book to the screen for United Artists, with Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon and Ernest Torrence in the principal roles, spent considerable time on location in the ocean off San Diego, San Pedro and Monterey, California. It was at the latter place that the motion picture outfit, cruising in the hope of finding a couple of sharks to fit the story action, ran into a whole school of the sea monsters, some of them 25 feet long and weighing nearly three tons.

AT THE GRAND

Ken Maynard, Universal western star, now playing in the gripping drama, "Strawberry Roan," has just won the right to be called Hollywood's only "triple threat" actor.

Ken, who will be seen at the Grand theatre next Friday, in the picture, has just purchased a racing yacht 42 feet in length, capable of sleeping five people, and has mastered the art of navigating it.

This makes him at home on the sea. He has conquered the air as an airplane pilot. And he claims that he can ride anything on land, from a horse to a motorcycle.

HIGHWAY PATROL ON DUTY MAY 30

All State Highway Patrolmen will be on active patrol duty Decoration Day, May 30, in order to assure maximum safety for the heavy volume of holiday traffic.

Colonel Lynn Black, patrol superintendent, has issued orders to the effect that every highway patrolman is to be on duty from 8 a. m. Memorial Day until 2 a. m. the next morning.

Col. Black pointed out that the patrolmen are to be especially vigilant in rendering any possible assistance to motorists as well as keeping the great amount of holiday motor travel flowing safely.

DIRTY FEET

I wonder if the boys who live today
Are different from the boys of years ago;
If they still fight when at their work or play,
And hate to dry the dirty dishes so;
I wonder if their mothers they deceive
As slyly they slip up the stairs at night
And jump into their beds; there but to leave
The marks from dirty feet on sheets so white;
I wonder if they still so soundly sleep
And have the dreams like used to come to me
When I would curl myself up in a heap
And happy in the arms of Morpheus be.

How well I recollect that boyish ruse
Which I would nightly play on mother there,
For when her back was turned to me I'd lose
No time and scampered up the old back stair;
I knew my feet were black as inkly coal
And in my exit I was doing wrong;
On mother dear I thought a march I stole—
Perchance I soon would sing a different song;
I'd jump into that snow-white lily bed,
But mother soon was on an errand there;
She'd pull the covers off from foot to head
And you may guess that I was deep in prayer.

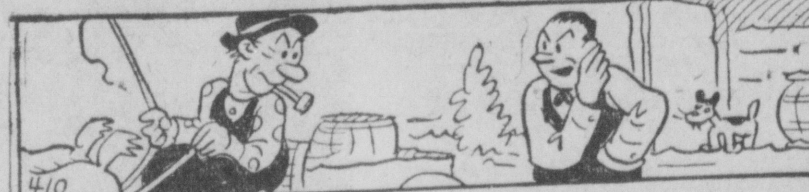

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

In the Safety Zone

By IRVIN S. COBB

A MAINE farmer with a reputation for frugality which was more than local drove up to the general store. He halted his team, dismounted from his wagon, entered and passed the time of day with those present. This formality concluded, he drifted over to the cooler and drank copiously of the ice-water. One of the resident loafers furnished him with tobacco for his pipe and another provided a match. Then he picked up a handy bucket and went out to water his horses. Returning, he begged a dab of axle grease with which to anoint one of his wheels. This seemed to remind him that a tire was slipping, so he asked the proprietor to lend him a hammer, for a few minutes. While the obliging storekeeper was searching his stock minutes for a hammer, the visitor made a light but satisfying luncheon off a for a hammer, the visitor made a light but satisfying luncheon off a cheese, sliced from the cube on the counter, a couple of soda-crackers plucked from a handy barrel, and a few segments of dried apple.

After this, apparently, he could think of nothing else. He had mounted to his seat and was driving away when the storekeeper hailed him:

"Say, Bill," he called out, "if you should find, later in the day, that you've lost your purse, remember you didn't have it out while you was here!"

NEW DINE-DANCE BUSINESS OPENS

The opening of a new dine and dance establishment, which will be known as the Scioto Trail Beer Garden and Barbecue is being announced today by Sam Schill and Ted Baughman, proprietors. Located conveniently near Columbus and about 20 miles north of Circleville, on State Route 23, the management aims to cater to the pleasure seeking people of both cities.

The construction work on the new beer garden has been completed and everything is in readiness for the opening which will be held Saturday evening to continue through Sunday and Sunday night. Dancing may be enjoyed to a competent Columbus orchestra at the opening, and every night thereafter, and for Saturday evening a special floor show and other entertainment is being arranged.

Mr. Schill, one of the new owners, is associated in the ownership of the Outdoor Military Co., Columbus, and is also an experienced man in the promotion of enjoyable entertainment of this nature. Mr. Baughman has been connected with the old Scioto Trail Barbecue for several years. William Duga will manage the new place.

L. E. Riggins, formerly of Circleville, will be one of the honored guests of the management Saturday evening.

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Circleville and this vicinity to attend the opening or visit them in the near future.

THE SYMBOL OF A NATION'S GRATEFUL REMEMBRANCE!

SIXTEEN years since the joyful news of the Armistice rang around the world. To most of us the time has passed quickly. It seems only yesterday that we reviewed our returning heroes marching home. The cheers and tears of joy are still vividly before us.

But what long years they have been to those mourning Gold Star Mothers. What long years they've been to those crippled, shell-shocked, blinded and maimed martyrs, many of whom are but merely marking time to the relief that will be theirs when taps are sounded. What price glory if they be denied on this day dedicated to remembrance.

There is no tribute that can recompense for what they have contributed. But we can manifest to them today that they are not forgotten. Our debt can only be expressed in the honor, reverence and admiration for their nobility. Their victory and sacrifices will stand as a national heritage to enrich the loyalty and patriotism of American posterity.

We've adopted the Poppy as a mute acknowledgment of the honor we accord them. As we wear it on our breasts may its red glow warm their hearts, cheer their spirits and temper their ills. May it convey to them the message of a nation's undying gratitude.

MEATS CLUB 20 TO 19 WIN

Another game of round-town was played in the softball league Thursday evening with the McClarren Meats eking out a 20-19 victory over the Circleville City dairy. The McClarrens took an early lead but saw it fade away in the late innings. They scored their winning run in the last of the ninth with two out.

The Meats scored three in the first against two for the dairies and added three more in the third while Earl Imler's team was counting once. The Circle City outfit scored seven runs in the fifth on three hits, five errors, and two bases on balls but the McClarrens counted four in their half to tie the score.

DEADLOCKED OFTEN
The meat-men again went ahead in the sixth scoring three times but the dairymen tied it up with three in the seventh. A deadlock existed going into the eighth which the Circle City broke with two runs. The McClarrens got hot in their part of the inning to score six runs but the Circle City nine tied it up with fourth in their part of the ninth. Then came the McClarren's winning run.

Hitting on both sides was terrific but errors played an even greater part in the scoring. The Circleville team was guilty of 11 miscues while the McClarrens committed an even dozen.

Carl Wallace and Leonard Buskirk on the mound for the teams each walked five.

Eldridge led the hitters with four blows one going for the circuit while Smalley and Snyers each had three for the winners. It was Denny's hit that scored Snyers with the winning run in the ninth.

Umpires were Scott and Dade.

OVERRULE PROTEST

The league's managers meeting with President Frank Lynch.

Thursday evening, overruled the protest of the Given Oil team against the Ralston-Purina Chow victory, Wednesday. The vote was 5-2 against playing the game over, only one manager being absent.

In starting the decision of the managers Mr. Lynch pointed out that the Given team, just as a number of others, cannot hope to get anywhere in this half of the schedule; that approved protests are poor precedents to establish, and that Louie Hill, who batted twice in succession was batting out of turn and that he and no one else was responsible for his mis-play.

About This And That

BY THE
SECOND GUESSER

No league ball game is scheduled this evening but that doesn't mean there won't be some action on the S. O. Electric field—The Eschelman Feeds take on a Stouts-ville team in what should be a good ball game.

A real ball game is on Sunday's schedule with the Container Corporation's fast team booking the Golco nine of Columbus—The Golcos have practically the entire Franklin Plater outfit that appeared here several times last year—Manager R. E. Norris will call on Pud Oliver to spike the guns of the fast Columbus outfit—It is possible two games will be played.

The Circleville Oils, defeated in two of their three league games, have decided to do something about it. In the first place George Crum, who ran the Gordon Tire team a couple of years ago, will assist Dorcy Courtwright in running the team and will probably have a loud voice in its destinies from now on—The first thing he announced was the addition of Don White, released by the Mecca Restaurants—Crum said White would go to right field—He also announced that Bob Pickens had been obtained and would immediately hop on third base with Art Steele going to shortstop and Eve Merriman to second where he plays his best ball—Raymond Smith, city policeman, who is unable to play often because of his hours, will be retained to be used when possible—Don White will be the first man to the plate in the batting order, Crum declared.

Next week's games include:
Monday: Eschelman Feeds vs. Given Oils.
Tuesday: Circle City Dairy vs. Circleville Oils.
Wednesday: Purina Chows vs. Mecca Restaurant.
Thursday: McClarren Meats vs. Container Corporation.

Stubblefield Possesses Strong Finishing Record

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. May 24.—H. W. "Stubby" Stubblefield, youthful speed addict who has been nominated to pilot the two-cycle Cummins Diesel entry in the 500-mile race at the Speedway here May 30, boasts a finisher's record on the local track that compares favorably with that of his team mate, Dave Evans, whose cars have never stopped short of the finish wire in five starts.

BUCKEYE HARRIERS MEET AT DELAWARE

DELAWARE, May 25.—Nearly 200 bronzed athletes arrived in Delaware today to take part in the ninth annual Buckeye conference track meet, the preliminaries of which are to get under way this afternoon.

Miami university is generally conceded as the likely winner of the meet. The Redskins defeated Ohio University, the other probable winner, 69 to 62 in a dual meet earlier in the season. Miami also swamped Ohio Wesleyan and Cincinnati by the same score—103 to 28—in dual meets.

Marshall appears as the dark horse in the competition.

In four starts here, Stubblefield has fallen short of 500 miles only once—in 1932 when his car caught fire causing a delay which permitted him to run only 445 miles when the track was cleared. In 1930, his first start here, he came in ninth, in 1931 he was eighth and last year he led the stock car procession home by finishing fifth, being robbed of possible victory by ignition trouble early in the race.

Beginning his racing career on the dirt tracks of California in 1927 Stubblefield who is now only 26 years old, was a consistent winner on the coast speedways for three years before making his debut on the big time track at Indianapolis. He came here in 1930 with a record of having finished third in the Pacific coast championship that year.

In 1932 the Western star piloted the famous "catfish" model in the 500-mile grind. Later he took the exceptionally streamlined creation to Muroc Dry Lake in Utah and established a world's mile record for four-cylinder cars at 149 miles an hour. He barely missed establishing a qualifying ten-mile record for two-man cars here when a bad fire forced him to slow down on the last lap after tuning three laps at record speed.

Each day for a period of four weeks The Herald will print one of a series of cartoons representing some well known proverb or saying.

Contestants solve the picture puzzles by writing the proverb that the cartoon suggests or illustrates in the blanks below the pictures.

Prizes totaling $37.50 in cash, will be awarded those sending in complete or near complete picture sets with the best and most appropriate answer to the picture published.

In cases of ties, neatness and originality of presentation will be considered.

Cartoons should not be sent to the paper until the series is complete.

Only one answer may be given to a picture.

Only one member of a family will be given a prize, the award going to the person in the family submitting the best set.

Employees of The Herald or members of their family are not eligible to compete in the contest.

The answers may be written in pen, pencil, printed or type-written.

At the close of the contest send your entries to the Profitable Proverb Contest Editor of The Herald.

Any person submitting answers agrees to accept as final, the decision of the judges in awarding prizes.

Edison's First Fortune

Marshall Lefferts, former president of the Western Union, once engaged Thomas Edison to improve the stock ticker, whereupon the Ohio boy produced the Universal Printer which he thought was worth $3,000, but he would have taken $2,000. When Lefferts asked him if he would take $40,000, the inventor nearly fainted. The teller of the bank where Edison took the check, being a practical joker, gave the Ohio lad the entire amount in small bills. Laboriously stuffing them into every pocket, he took them home and sat up all night to guard his fortune.

PUBLIC SALE OF REAL ESTATE

In pursuance of the order of the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio, I will again offer for sale public auction, at the front door of the Court House in Circleville, Ohio, on Monday June 25, 1934, at 2:00 o'clock p. m., the following real estate, situated in the City of Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, and described as follows:—

Being all that part of Lot No. 375, according to the revised numbering of the lots of said City of Circleville, Ohio, which lies north of Franklin Street, also 16 1/2 ft. of the south side of Mulberry Alley, extending the whole length of said Lot No. 375, and adjoining said lot on the north; provided that in case the building now standing on said part of said lot No. 375, should be burned down, moved or rebuilt, so much of said lot as will be necessary to straighten the north line of Franklin Street shall revert to the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the purpose of straightening or widening said Franklin Street as is provided by an ordinance duly passed by the Council of said City.

Said real estate is located on the north west corner of Pickaway and Franklin Streets, in Circleville, Ohio. On same is a brick dwelling (with west part thereof framed); said dwelling is on said Pickaway Street, House No. 131 South Pickaway Street. Said real estate extends from Buckner Street along the north side of Franklin Street, to the alley. West of said dwelling on said real estate, and on Franklin Street, is a three automobile cement block garage, and at the west end of said lot on Franklin Street, is a small business building, now occupied by Elmer E. Wolf feed store. Said Probate Court has fixed the lowest price for which said real estate can be sold, at $3,000.00.

Terms of sale Cash.

"Here, take this up to the print shop and get about fifty copies mimeographed."

He handed his subordinate a copy of Kipling's famous poem, "If," which contains the lines: "If you can make one heap of all your winnings And risk it on one turn of pitch and toss, And lose, and start again at your beginnings And never breathe a word about your loss."

After that, when each dejected officer came in, Weaver handed him a copy of the poem. Inside of an hour, the battalions, once reeking with gloom, was functioning with its former tip-top efficiency.

Merry-Go-Round

Representative Frank Buck, from Vacaville, Calif., one of the biggest wine-producing districts in the State, is rated the best informed man on wines in Congress.

Buck always keeps a supply of excellent samples of the home product in his office. . . . For some ten minutes the other day, as he was bringing to a close his speech on the President's Reciprocal Tariff Bill, Senator Bill Borah showed an enthralled and packed Senate that he is still the country's greatest orator. . . . It was the first time in several years that the shaggy-maned Idahoan "did his stuff," and it was a performance that will long be remembered.

Senators were motionless on the edges of their seats, open mouths were common in the jammed galleries, and the hard-boiled reporters in the press gallery listened in rapt attention, some of them forgetting to take notes. . . . The speech was a sort of trial test for Borah, as he plans to take the stump after Congress adjourns for a nation-wide speaking tour during which he will discuss the New Deal and tell what he thinks about it.

Franklin Price to Sing Soldier Role in Verdi's "Il Trovatore"

Franklin Price, of Jackson-twp., who is a tenor with the Columbus Civic Opera company, is to be seen as one of the two soldiers cast as the special guard for the fiery gypsy, Azucena, in the performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore," being presented at Memorial Hall Tuesday evening by the Columbus Civic Opera company. It will be given in English.

The role of Azucena is to be portrayed by Madame Marta Wittkowska, who is internationally heralded as the greatest of modern Azucenas. Other principal roles are to be sung by Blair Stewart, brilliant young tenor who is well known for his broadcasts over stations WJY and WAU, Herald A. Imhoff, popular baritone who has several successful performances with the civic opera company to his credit; Ellis Hopkins Selby, Belford Cheadle, Helen Stevenson, Harold E. Matthews and Don Leach.

Stewart sings the tenor role of Manrico, Imhoff that of Count de Luna and Mrs. Selby, the principal soprano role of Leonora. The opera is also to be heard at a special students' dress rehearsal matinee at Memorial Hall this Saturday afternoon.

Senior Class Play Wins Plaudits of Huge Crowd

The senior class play of the local high school "Buttered Side Down" written by E. K. Povenmire, history and dramatics instructor, is a most enjoyable three act folk comedy.

The play is full of clever and witty sayings to which the audience, attending the first presentation, Thursday evening, responded very pleasingly. Fifteen members of the class took part each portraying his part in a very creditable manner. Although the play-ers deserve commendation for their portrayal, a great amount of the credit and praise for the success of the performance should go to the author, Mr. Povenmire, who also directed the presentation.

ROLES WELL-HANDLED

The principal roles were enacted in excellent fashion by Lyman England as John Brewster "Pop" Smith, a good-hearted "pop" always meddling in other persons' affairs; Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick as Elly Smith, "Pop's" wife; Thomas Harmon as Fred Upham, auctioneer of the community; Betty Bown as Eulalie Upham, his wife;

ELLIOTT BARNHILL TO GRADUATE FROM COLLEGE

Elliott Barnhill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Barnhill, N. Court-st., is a member of the graduating class of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill. He will receive a bachelor of science in commerce degree at commencement exercises to be held at Dyche stadium, Saturday, June 16. Baccalaureate services will be Friday evening, June 15, at the First Methodist church in Evanston.

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, will deliver the commencement address and Bishop Ernest L. Waldorf, bishop of the Chicago area of the Methodist church, the baccalaureate.

Mr. Barnhill graduated from Circleville high school in 1929 and was president of his class. He also attended Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, for two years. His parents plan to motor to Evanston for graduation week exercises.

MISS KIRCHOFER IS CLUB HOSTESS

Miss Ethel Kirkchofer entertained with a delightful bridge party at the American Hotel Coffee shoppe, Thursday evening. Guests were members of her club.

John Robinson as Dorsey Upham, their son; Margie Brown as Eloise, with whom Dorsey is in love; Lee Cook as Gus, a good natured fellow also in love with Eloise; William Ashbrook as Henry Miller, village postmaster, and Robert May as Prof. George Ebricht, who used to stutter.

All these actors portrayed their roles with much assurance. Lyman England as "Pop" was especially good having a great number of lines to commit. Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick as his wife, Elly, also deserves special mention in her part. Thomas Harmon, Lee Cook, Betty Brown and William Ashbrook were well cast.

The entire play takes place in Hotel Water Cress and centers around the activities of "Pop" and his attempts to help solve other persons' troubles. It is typical of real life in a small mid-western town.

OTHERS HAVE PARTS

Others taking part besides those already mentioned were Ruth Newland and Mary Curtin as Alvira and Penelope Jones, respectively, guests at the hotel; Charlotte Moore, Betty Barnes and Margaret Bower as Mary, Martha, and Maude, town folks; and Russell Skaggs as Mr. Larsen, also a guest at the hotel.

A large crowd attended the performance and preceding the presentation and between acts music was furnished by the high school orchestra, directed by J. H. Gill. The play will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock.

packing house, who arrived at the bullet-riddled automobile in time to see the killer's car disappearing toward Chicago.

SOUTH HOLLAND, Ill., May 25.

One bandit was shot dead and another was critically wounded today when five masked men, reported to be members of the John Dillinger gang, raided the South Holland Trust and Savings bank. Joseph P. De Young, father of Peter De Young, who was killed in a similar raid on the same bank last January, was the sharp shooter who shot down one of the bandits and wounded another.

De Young was posted in a steel cage on the balcony, where he keeps constant vigil, when the five bandits, their faces partially masked with white handkerchiefs, rushed into the lobby.

In the bank at the time were Charles E. Waterman, president; his son, Milton H. Waterman, cashier, and Herman Bykema, assistant cashier. All were prepared for just such an emergency.

OPENED FIRE

As two of the bandits leaned on a counter and shouted, "this is a stickup," the three bank officials fled to the floor. At the same instant De Young opened fire.

The bandits were panic stricken at the sudden turn of affairs. One of the masked men on the counter fell mortally wounded. De Young then trained his rifle on the other man on the counter. One burst of fire and he fell to the floor with a thud.

Only one shot was fired by the bandits and that went astray. As their two companions fell from the counter, one of the remaining three bandits shouted: "Let's get out of here."

SHOT FROM STREET

Running to the street the trio leaped into a waiting Ford V8. As they did so the wounded bandit who had been left in the bank staggered in the direction of the door. At this instant, Neal Van Kanegan, operator of a garage across the street from the bank, seized a high-powered rifle and opened fire.

One of Van Kanegan's bullets crashed through the bank's front window and struck the wounded bandit as he reached for the knob. Then, directing his attention on the fleeing automobile, Van Kanegan fired again and was believed to have hit one of the men in the car.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW FEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Frank C. Walker of National Emergency Council to Step Out

WASHINGTON—Inner Administration circles are buzzing with the whisper that Frank C. Walker plans to step out as head of the National Emergency Council.

Reluctant and publicity-shy, although personally one of the ablest and most charming of the New Dealers, Walker, however, will not abandon Washington. According to those in the know, he is destined for higher and greater responsibilities as a member of the White House staff.

Just what role this new honor will take is not quite clear. But it is declared that the President plans to put Walker on his personal staff as a confidential assistant.

Walker, one of the President's earliest and most devoted supporters, has assiduously insisted on keeping in the background. He has refused several important posts, and the President literally had to push him into the job of running the Emergency Council.

Cooperation

There were things in the blistering harrow report to which General Hugh Johnson took violent exception. But the accusation that really cut him to the quick was the charge of failure to cooperate.

Asked about this, the Blue Eagle boss replied that it reminded him of the following story: "A young lieutenant, just out of West Point, was assigned to a Southwestern post commanded by a hard-boiled old Indian fighter. He was the type of officer who marked a new man's laundry by shooting a hole through his suit case.

"The young lieutenant, however, liked the looks of his new boss, and told him so.

"I am sure, Captain, that we shall co-operate splendidly," he said.

"Humph," grunted the Captain, "we'll co-operate splendidly all right, if you do the cooperating."

Relief vs. Work

One important problem absorbing Harry Hopkins' Federal Emergency Relief is the fact that large numbers of workers are turning employment because of continued idleness from the Government.

To what extent this prevails is impossible to estimate. But there have been recent significant indications.

One is the fact that last month—after over one year and two months of the New Deal—there were more people on relief rolls than when Roosevelt came into office.

Another indication became evident in Pocatello, Idaho, recently where a call was given for 300 workers in the beet sugar fields. Only six turned up. The others were on Federal Relief rolls.

Weeding out deserving families from undeserving is going to be a superhuman task.

If

The battlement New Mexico had just finished her target practice in the Caribbean. Recently remodelled, manned by a crew which never had worked together, she had been on a four months shake-down cruise to get her green crew functioning efficiently.

Shaking down a raw, green crew is no cinch, but Captain Weaver, the commanding officer, had done a beautiful job. Not only was morale perfect, but the New Mexico had established a new world's record.

Shooting at a target of only 100 yards at a distance of twelve miles, her gunners had scored 66 hits out of 68.

And with this accomplishment the New Mexico sailed for home.

Suddenly came wireless orders to distribute the crack crew among the other ships of the fleet. This meant the loss of some of the New Mexico's prize gunners, her best petty officers and the evaporation of morale.

An officer came into the quarters of Captain Weaver. Gloom was written all over his face.

"Have you seen the orders?"

"Yes."

"What are we going to do?"

"We're going to carry them."

TWO DIE IN TOLEDO RIOTING

NINE INJURED
52 ARRESTED
BY ARMY MEN

Agree to Close Plant Rest of Week Pending 'Peace' Discussion

'MURDER' CLAIMED

Fear Alleviated That Fight Would be Renewed

TOLEDO, May 25.—(Charging that "murder has been committed in Toledo by Ohio Guardsmen firing into unarmed workers," a committee of 23 members of the Central Labor Union today telegraphed a petition to President Roosevelt, asking that he instruct Governor George White to remove the troops from the scene of the strike disorders at the Electric Auto-Lite Co. plant here.

TOLEDO, May 25.—Empty quiet hung over the wastes of Toledo's industrial battlefield today as efforts were made to bring peace to the strike warfare that reached its climax yesterday and last night with killing of two persons, the wounding of nine others, injuries to scores and the arrest of 52 rioters.

The opening wedge in the non-summation of peace negotiations was believed to have been struck with the agreement of officials of the Electric Auto-Lite Co., whose plant has been laid low by the strike since, to close the plant for the remainder of the week.

Company officials agreed to the shut-down of the plant temporarily after eighteen companies of Ohio National Guardsmen, commanded by Brig. Gen. L. S. Connelly, had succeeded in crushing the body, if not the spirit, of the strike violence.

HOPE FOR PEACE

Fears were held that there might be a renewal of the strike warfare, perhaps more general and on a larger scale as a result of the blood already spilled, but mediators planned to work quickly with hopes of effecting a permanent and peaceful settlement of the strike that has been dragging along for the last five weeks.

The negotiations were being carried on through the efforts of Charles P. Taft, son of the late President Taft, who came here yesterday at the request of Secretary Frances Perkins of the federal labor department.

Taft was being assisted by Ralph Lind, secretary of the Cleveland regional labor board, and E. H. Dunnigan, Lind was ordered to Toledo after a conference in Washington between President Roosevelt and Senator Robert Wagner.

Besides the negotiations being attempted by the federal mediators, citizens of Toledo, including representatives of organized labor and newspaper editors, planned a meeting today to discuss the strike situation.

And, in the meantime, military authorities, who were holding peace by means of rifles in the industrial area, were launched upon an investigation to determine

MRS. MAY'S SISTER DIES IN DELEWARE

Mrs. Georgia Grimes, aged 87, aunt of Charles H. May and Miss Anna and Estella Grimes, died at her home in Delaware, Thursday, according to word received here.

She was a sister of Mrs. Mary M. May, whose husband, Dr. John B. May, succumbed this week in New Holland.

Mrs. Grimes was the widow of John W. Grimes. The family lived in New Holland for a number of years removing to Delaware in 1891.

The deceased, who is survived by a daughter, Miss Josephine, was a native of Clermont-co. a daughter of John and Ann Penn Holter.

Rev. H. O. Harbaugh and Rev. Roberts officiated at impressive funeral services for the late Dr. May, Thursday afternoon.

Members of the Pickaway-co. Medical society acted as honorary pall bearers.

ROBINSON, MAST ARE U. S. JUNIORS

Ward Robinson and George Mast have been drawn for federal jury duty. Their names were in a list of 95 called for service in Columbus.

OHIO GUARDSMEN CHARGING STRIKERS AT TOLEDO

A dramatic photo from the scene of the strike disorders at Toledo, as Ohio National guardsmen charged the ranks of strikers before the Electric Auto-Lite company, killing two persons and wounding scores.

The guardsmen were called in when local police and deputies failed to cope with the rioting. Guardsmen were said to have used a new type of tear gas bomb.

VIC DONAHEY JOINS CONTEST FOR SENATE; OUTLINES PLANS

Puts Up 14-Year Record as State Official as His Qualification For Office Sought By White and Truax; To Pay No Aides; Denies Alliance With Davey.

COLUMBUS, May 25.—Standing for election on his record of 14 years as a state official, two terms as auditor and three as governor, Vic Donahey today formally announced he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, subject to the August 14 primary.

Donahey entered the field against Gov. George White, an avowed candidate, and Congressman Charles V. Truax, who although having made no formal declaration, has repeatedly told friends he is definitely in the senatorial race.

TRAGEDY ENACTED AS BOY IS KILLED

Clarksburg Home Scene of Fatal Shooting; Berry Boy Dies of Injury.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at Brown's chapel for Charles A. Jackson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jackson, of near Clarksburg, who was accidentally shot through the back and heart, Wednesday afternoon, when Floyd Berry, 12, of Lancaster, visiting at the Jackson home, picked up a revolver which he apparently mistook for a cap pistol and shot Charles.

Death was almost instant.

The children had been playing about the house and having a jolly time, the Berry family visiting the Jacksons for the day.

The pistol was within easy reach of the children and the deadly nature of the weapon until the roar of the gun and the scream of the wounded boy brought older members of the family to the scene.

The victim and the Berry boy had been close friends, all their lives and the tragedy leaves the Berry youth heartbroken.

DENVER TO HANDLE SAWYER'S CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, May 25.—M. R. Denver, farm and business man of Clinton-co. and former congressman from the sixth Ohio district, has accepted the chairmanship of Lieut. Gov. Charles Sawyer's campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor. Sawyer headquarters announced today.

"Sawyer's record indicates he will bring to the governor's chair a combination of rugged honesty, courage, simplicity and a progressive forward-looking attitude on public questions," said Denver in taking over the reins of the Lieutenant governor's campaign.

RURAL PROGRAM DISCUSSION HELD

A number of township trustees and other local officials gathered in the office of E. W. Weiler, relief director, Thursday evening to discuss the rural relief program and its adaptability.

Eight of the 15 townships were represented.

Fifteen application blanks were given each township in an effort to get the program started.

3 RUNAWAYS FOUND

Three runaway Columbus boys, William Perry, Chester Griffith, and Ed Donnelly, all 13, were found in Ashville, Thursday, and returned to their homes.

YOGI, 135, INTERRED ALIVE AT OWN WISH

CALCUTTA, May 25.—Declaring his Gods were calling him to the more important world, the 135-year-old Yogi Bhanubhath, of the famous Barilly temple in Calcutta, was buried alive today at his own request.

Thousands of Hindus surrounded the newly-dug grave, whereupon the priest was ceremoniously enclosed in his casket and lowered into the ground. Fresh earth then was tilled into the hole.

Fastidious in this strange burial then stood by for hours, awaiting a "sign of approval" from the Gods.

Harley Stewart, of near Laurelville, has pleaded not guilty to murdering his son, Carl, 20, and his case will be investigated by a special grand jury session called for June 4.

Stewart when arraigned indicated he would set up a self-defense case.

The Sam's creek man is held without bail, the first degree charge eliminating any possibility of such release. He was not permitted to attend his son's funeral Wednesday afternoon.

Resentment over the killing of a dog belonging to the son resulted in the quarrel which ended fatally. The elder Stewart said the dog was destroying hens and birds' nests, which he didn't like, so he killed it.

Stewart has served a term in the Ohio penitentiary for carrying concealed weapons. He entered a plea of guilty April 22, 1929 on the weapon charge in Judge Harley M. Whitcraft's court and served a minimum one year.

Stewart in a statement to Sol Ellinger, Hocking-co. sheriff, said: "No one hates it more than I do but it's done now. I shot his dog and that started it."

The fatal shooting is the fourth murder in the past 20 years in the Sam's Creek district.

TARLTON FIRE LOSS IS $400

Flames Start In Elsen Garage, Sweep To Hinton Barn; Other Buildings Saved.

Fire starting in a garage at the parsonage of Rev. S. C. Elsen, Tarlton, destroyed that building and also leveled a barn belonging to Ed Hinton, Thursday evening.

The flames were controlled before they could do more damage. For a while it was feared the fire would develop into a major loss. The roof of an old house across the street from the garage was ignited but extinguished before the flames could do much damage.

Water was thrown on adjacent houses by a bucket brigade.

Total loss is expected to amount to between $400 and $500.

The cause of the fire was undetermined.

70 CREAMERY MEN IN MEETING HERE

Seventy creamery men of this district gathered at the court house, Thursday evening, to discuss ways and means of improving the quality of Ohio butter. F. R. Graves, of Washington C. H., manager of the Sunlight Creamery, was in charge.

Included in the district are Pickaway, Fayette, part of Ross, Fairfield, and Hocking-co.

Others on the program were N. R. Baker, manager of the Fairmount creamery; Mr. Swaine, inspector of the Ohio dairy and food department; Reed Shafer, of the Pickaway Dairy Co., and Guy Dowdy, farm agent.

JUDGE BOYD HERE

Judge Clinton D. Boyd, of the Common Pleas Court of Butler-co. candidate for the Republican nomination of Supreme court for the short term, was a visitor here today.

Judge Boyd came from Hamilton where he holds court, to meet with friends and party leaders in this vicinity.

Judge Boyd announced his candidacy on January 1 and was the first in the field for any state office. His pet name now is in circulation or have been circulated in every county in the state.

FATHER DENIES MURDER CLAIM

Grand Jury To Investigate Stewart Charges June 4; Not Permitted to Bail.

Harley Stewart, of near Laurelville, has pleaded not guilty to murdering his son, Carl, 20, and his case will be investigated by a special grand jury session called for June 4.

Stewart when arraigned indicated he would set up a self-defense case.

The Sam's creek man is held without bail, the first degree charge eliminating any possibility of such release. He was not permitted to attend his son's funeral Wednesday afternoon.

2 KILLED IN RACE TRAGEDY

Pete Kreis, Veteran Driver, and Mechanic Victims As Car Skids on Track.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25.—Pete Kreis, of Knoxville, Tenn., veteran race driver and his mechanic, Bob Hahn, of China, Cal., were killed here today when their car skidded in the southwest turn of the Indianapolis Motor speedway and left the track.

The Kreis car was warming up when the accident occurred. Witnesses said that the front end of the slender speed creation seemed to buckle. The car leaped the wall, hung for an instant and then went crashing into a tree.

The machine was broken in two. Both the driver and his mechanic were dead when speedway attendants reached them.

G. O. P. MEETS HERE

Headed by four candidates for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, a number of leading Republicans of the state will gather at the Pickaway Country club this evening for a rally. The meeting starts at 6:30 o'clock.

Clarence J. Brown, C. Nelson Sparks, John Elden, and Dan Morgan, have announced their plans to appear on the program.

ROBINSON RESTING AFTER OPERATION

BALBOA, C. Z., May 25.—The battle to save the life of William Albert Robinson was in the American explorer-writer's own hands today as he lay in a weak and critical condition aboard the U. S. destroyer fleet after being on the ship's operating table for more than five hours for removal of a ruptured appendix.

Radio reports from the navy surgeons attending Robinson in Tagus Bay, in the Galapagos Islands, to the navy base here this morning stated:

"Robinson survived the operation and is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances."

FARLEY JAILED FOR FRAUD OF C. FISHER

Oscar Farley, 42, of Utica, was held in the county jail Thursday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer to answer charges of defrauding Curtis Fisher, Madison-twp., in a straw deal.

Farley was arrested in Newark for the local officer.

GUNNERS KILL POLICEMAN HUNTING DILLINGER GANG; YEGG DIES IN BANK HOLDUP

East Chicago Highway Scene of Double Murder; Bodies Found in Automobile After Bandit Car Speeds Away; Machine-Gunner Protecting Bank Sprays Yeggs With Bullets.

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., May 25.—With the brutal and mysterious machine gunning of two policemen assigned to watch for John Dillinger, America's No. 1 desperado and his outlaw gang today became the targets of a roaring manhunt.

Policemen Martin O'Brien, 44, and Floyd Mulvihill, 29, were shot to death late last night in their patrol car on the little used Gary-East Chicago road. This area is the focal point of many of Dillinger's crime activities.

Bodies of the two officers were literally riddled with machine gun bullets presumably fired at close range from another automobile.

ROAR TO CHICAGO

Shortly after the crime was discovered an automobile containing four or five gunmen, two of them flourishing machine guns, roared through Hammond (Ind.), apparently bound for Chicago. Police cars in northern Indiana converged on the area and 12 squads of Chicago detectives rushed to cover all roads leading from Indiana into Chicago.

All circumstances indicated that Dillinger and his gang committed the double killing. East Chicago officers said. Chief of Police Nicholas disclosed that the policemen had been assigned to look for Dillinger and his outlaw followers. He declared:

"I am convinced that these men were killed by Dillinger and his fellow desperadoes. Probably O'Brien and Mulvihill had stopped the killer's car, intending to find out what they were doing so late at night on such a lonely road."

"They were looking for Dillinger suspects as the rumor had been that the gang was back near its old haunts as in that neighborhood they could find friends willing to hide them."

When discovered by a watchman the police car with its two dead occupants in the front seat was halted at the side of the highway. Opposite it were the wheels of another auto, which the police machine had evidently overhauled.

IN WENDEL BATTLE

Mrs. Grace P. Miller (top), of Harrodsburg, Md., who created a sensation in move for new trial for P. Morris (lower), convicted of a conspiracy in attempt to murder $100,000. Wendell Bowman, convicted to the effect that he was only a son of John O. Bowman, that his mother was his sister.

BOWMAN CRIME TRAIL AT END

Ohio Bandit Faces Kentucky Electric Chair; Plea Ignored By Jurors.

HARRODSBURG, Ky., May 25.—Neal Bowman's spectacular trail of crime was charted today to an end in the electric chair at the Kentucky state penitentiary at Eddyville.

The 31-year-old Ohio "mad" bandit, who five months ago fled the Ohio State hospital for criminal insane at Lima was found guilty by a farmer-jury here yesterday of murdering his youthful gang pal, Comer "Red" Franklin, of Jamestown, Tenn., and his punishment was fixed at death.

In solitary at the state reformatory at Frankfort, today Bowman recovered his composure following a near collapse when the verdict, ignoring his desperate plea for life, was read in Mercer circuit court.

Losing his stoic calm, the desperado sobbed violently on the shoulder of his father, W. C. Bowman, oil driller from near Portsmouth. O. The elder Bowman consoled his son by assuring that he would stand by him to the end. To others he said the man "must be crazy" if he is guilty of all the things charged to him.

"I am a crook and a thief but I never killed a man in my life," insisted Bowman in an impassioned appeal to the court; but the jury turned a deaf ear and after an hour's deliberation voted the maximum penalty for the crime.

3 MORE CALLED IN $25,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Three additional witnesses, Charles Hegler, Orville Ward, and Dr. R. E. Baker, have been summoned to appear in the trial of the $25,000 damage suit of Willard Massie against E. E. Clifton and J. E. Fritz which begins in common pleas court, Monday.

PROPERTY - OWNERS DEMAND ROAD OILED

Property-owners residing on the road between Stringtown and Tarlton are planning to appear before the county commissioners, Monday, to urge that a treatment of oil be placed on this road.

This highway is much traveled and has become very dusty, they claim.

APRIL MOTOR TOLL HEAVY

A decided drop in the number of accidents, six more people killed and seventy more injured during April than during the automobile mishaps reported to the State Highway Department as occurring on state highways outside municipalities, according to available statistics released by Highway Director W. Merrell.

Fifty-two persons, 40 men and 12 women, met death in 617 accidents during April as compared with 46 persons, 39 men and 7 women, killed in 805 mishaps during March.

The accident decrease was believed due to the fact that skidding hazards were less in April than in the wintery month of March. Skidding comprised 7.6 per cent of the April mishaps compared to 20.9 per cent of the March accidents, a drop of 13.3 per cent.

Motor vehicle colliding with another vehicle was the leading cause of the 617 accidents during April, 314 or 51 per cent being due to this cause. Collision with a fixed object was next, accounting for 201 of 32.8 per cent of the mishaps.

The majority of the accidents took place on straightaway road—339 or 53.9 per cent.

The greatest number of mishaps, 45 in number, occurred between 3

Mrs. George O. Thurn Answers Recipe Requests For "Some Easily Made Desserts"

Dear Friends in Circleville:

Puddings aren't very romantic sounding desserts, but in answer to your so often repeated requests for "easily prepared desserts" I must give you my favorite easily prepared pudding. Almost every one likes a plain chocolate pudding, children and grown-ups, young and old. Even the cook likes it just because it is one of the most easily prepared of the sweets.

Cream Chocolate Pudding

One half cup granulated sugar; three tablespoons cornstarch; two cups milk; two squares chocolate or four tablespoons cocoa; one fourth teaspoon salt; one teaspoon vanilla.

Mix all but the flavoring together in an enameled saucepan, cook at low heat, stirring occasionally until the mixture is steaming. Then stir vigorously until the pudding is thick. Add the vanilla. Pour into serving glasses and let chill thoroughly.

Instead of serving with cream or whipped cream, try serving it with a bitter chocolate sauce. The two chocolate flavors together are interesting.

Cup Cakes With Orange Sauce

This sauce will dress up any pudding or plain cake. For it have ready the juice and grated rind of one half lemon; juice and grated rind of one half orange; one third cup sugar; two eggs; one fourth teaspoon salt. Combine the fruit, sugar and salt with the egg yolks. Cook the first mixture at low heat, stirring constantly until thickened, then pour slowly over the beaten egg whites. Dress up plain sponge cake, or gingerbread easily.

White Layer Cake

You may say this is not an easily prepared dessert. But with the modern methods of cooking in regulated ovens, and with the accuracy of tested cookery ingredients, found today on every grocer's shelf, there is no failure with such a cake as this:

Two thirds cup shortening; one and one half cups granulated sugar; two and one half cups flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one fourth teaspoon salt; two thirds cup milk; one half teaspoon lemon extract; six egg whites.

Blend the shortening and sugar together; sift the flour, measure it and sift again with the salt and baking powder; add alternately with the milk to the sugar mixture; add flavoring and strain the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into two layer cake pans rubbed with shortening. Place the cake in a cold oven; set the temperature control at 375 or 400 degrees and turn on the heat. Bake forty-five to fifty minutes.

Ice with chocolate caramel fudge frosting.

Cinnamon, Cakes

One half cup shortening; one cup sugar; two eggs; one half cup milk; one and three fourths cup flour; two and one half teaspoons baking powder; one tablespoon of cinnamon.

Blend the shortening and sugar, add the beaten eggs; sift the cinnamon and flour, mix with the baking powder, and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture.

Place in muffin pans rubbed with shortening. Place in a cold oven; set the temperature control at 375 degrees, or moderate, and turn on the heat. Bake for thirty-five minutes. Delicious with lemon icing, or orange sauce.

Butter Scotch Bars

One fourth cup shortening; one cup brown sugar; one egg; one cup flour; one teaspoon baking powder; one fourth teaspoon salt; three fourths cup cream; one teaspoon vanilla. One half cup chopped black walnuts, or pecans. Blend the shortening and sugar, add the beaten eggs, then the mixed and sifted dry ingredients, cream and flavoring. Spread in a square or oblong cake pan rubbed with shortening. Have the oven at moderate heat, 30 degrees and bake 25 to 35 minutes.

Caramel Pudding

One cup light brown sugar; three tablespoons cornstarch; two cups milk; one teaspoon vanilla. Mix the sugar, cornstarch and milk in a saucepan, and heat slowly, stirring occasionally until the mixture begins to steam. Stir vigorously then, until the pudding is thick. Add the flavoring. Pour into a glass bowl and let chill thoroughly. Serve with rosettes of whipped cream decorating the top.

N. & W. SLASHES RATES FOR FAIR

Drastically reduced passenger rates, some as low as one and one-half cents a mile, season tickets, all-expense tours and other travel bargains, to Chicago for the World's Fair, were announced today by the Norfolk and Western Railway. The low tariffs are applicable from practically all stations on the railroad, and will be sold from May 26 to October 31.

The special rates, which will be good on all trains include the following: Thirty-day limit coach fares, sold daily throughout the season, one and one-half cents a mile; 18-day limit round-trip fares (on sale daily), two cents a mile in each direction; 15-day limit tickets (on sale only Tuesday and Saturday), one fare plus 25 cents; round-trip season ticket, two and one-half cents per mile. In addition, the N. & W. is offering special fares for parties of 25 or more persons.

Best as a CEREAL

Best for COOKING

It's so convenient to keep a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a healthful ingredient in your cooking. For muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

ALL-BRAN brings your family the "bulk" that is so helpful in correcting common constipation.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. How much better than risking patent medicines!

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. This "bulk" is similar to that in leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

Special processes of cooking and flavoring make Kellogg's ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable than ordinary raw bran.

And because it is all bran—with only flavoring added—it brings you more "bulk" than part-bran products.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Munitions Prober

Stephen Raushenbush, of Harrisburg, Pa., who has been appointed chief investigator for the Senate Munitions Committee, probing manufacture and sale of war material in the U. S. Raushenbush, a native of Rochester, N. Y., investigated the anthracite and utilities industries.

To Cook New Asparagus

So much argument has ensued about asparagus, whether it is a finger food or a fork food, that it is not amiss to mention the facts here. It has been decreed a fork food by the etiquette arbiters, and with a fork food it must be eaten on our tables. Whether we partake of it in public or private. With the fork, cut off an inch or two at a time, beginning with the tip end, and continue until the whole stalk is consumed.

Practically all of the green, thin variety is edible from tip to stem when in season. Of the thick green kind, shading to purple white at the stem end only the green portion is edible.

Tender asparagus does not have to be scraped when preparing it for the boiling kettle or for steaming. Wash in cold water, remove any spikes or scales from stem ends of very large stalks. Drain, tie in a bunch, stand up in a tall kettle, or asparagus cooker, and fill to within one inch of the tips, with boiling water. Cover and cook gently for fifteen minutes, leaving the tips to cook in the steam. Add one teaspoon of salt and cook another five to ten minutes. Lift out. Drain, untie, and remove to a hot serving dish. Dress with brown butter, made by heating six table-spoons of butter with a little salt and pepper, melted and slightly browned.

Asparagus 'Au Gratin
For one bunch of asparagus, use six table-spoons butter; four table-spoons grated cheese; one half

teaspoon salt; one-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Put the cooked asparagus in a baking dish, keeping the tips together. Pour over them one half of the melted butter. Sprinkle with cheese, season and pour on the rest of the butter. Cover with brown paper or waxed paper, leaving the tips exposed. Place under the broiler just long enough for the cheese to melt.

The purpose of misfortune is to develop character so that we can endure more misfortune so that we can develop still more character so that we can endure still more misfortune or to put in another way, oh phooey!

gives insight into the secrets of radiance and charm... in this letter to Betty Crocker

Read her shrewd comments on the importance of bread in a diet to promote vitality!

Dear Betty Crocker:
I do not diet. I have never found it necessary. Good health comes from reasonable eating and reasonable exercising. Attraction comes from good health, clean mind and a human heart. My meals would not be complete without some type of bread. I eat bread or rolls with every meal. I eat several kinds. I select my food with care and eat according to my appetite. My notion picture work has not demanded anything of me except common sense in this respect.

Margaret Sullivan

Swept to stardom in a single picture, Margaret Sullivan remains charmingly unaffected. A delightfully genuine young person. Slender, poised, intensely alive. In the engrossing new Universal picture, "Little Man, What Now?", she gives a deeply poignant interpretation to the role of the courageous young wife.

SCIENCE REVEALS WHY BREAD IS OUR OUTSTANDING ENERGY FOOD

FARLEY NOT AFTER GOVERNOR'S POST

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—"Big Jim" Farley, who directs the nation's largest business enterprise—the post office department—is satisfied with his present job. Under no conceivable circumstances will he be a candidate for governor of New York this year. He won't run, and he won't be drafted.

The genial postmaster general made this emphatically clear today in an interview, in which he said he hoped that his denial of political ambitions would quell, once and for all, the recurrent reports that he has his eye on the New York governorship.

WHAT OF FUTURE
As for the future—well, the future is the future, and will have to take care of itself. "I am for Gov. Lehman," he said. "He has made a great record at Albany. He deserves to be re-nominated and re-elected. And he will be. He is one of the best governors New York has ever had, and all this talk of me as a candidate is so much what Al Smith calls holoney. Gov. Lehman will run on his record, a highly creditable record, and he deserves the re-nomination and re-election that he will get in November."

"What about the future, say 1936?" he was asked.

A shrug of the Farley shoulders, and a deprecatory wave of the Farley arm.

"I don't know that I'd ever want the governorship," he said. "And that's giving you the honest answer."

"Big Jim" is really enjoying being postmaster general. The actual business he conducts is the largest in the country, greater than the steel industry, the oil business, or any other of the giant industries.

It has been in the "red" for a good many years. It is Farley's ambition to pull it out, and he is as enthusiastic over the prospects as a boy with a new rifle. He believes the postal service can be put on a paying basis, and he frankly hopes to get the credit for doing it. It might be time then, perhaps, to think of further political preferment. But not now.

Jailed on Hour Basis

DENVER.—Sentences imposed on offenders in police court here are on an hour basis now. Instead of "one day" in jail, Municipal Judge Alvin H. Pickens says "24 hours" in jail. The change in wording of the sentences was made after the revelation that several prisoners sentenced for a day in jail had been released by Deputy Warden Charles Thompson of the county lockup immediately after being booked.

the responsibility for the rioting that has resulted in the blood shed and widespread property damage.

DEMAND INCREASE

The strike was called by the automotive workers, demanding a ten percent wage increase, recognition of their union and priority rights, but the military authorities were investigating reports and rumors that the riots and violence may have been inspired by "professional labor agitators."

The iron heel of the Ohio National guard early today crashed the striking rioting—but not until after two persons had been killed, nine others shot and scores injured.

The rioting, which continued until midnight, was halted as augmented troops of guardsmen made sorties into the mob and quelled its fanatical fury by military force and precision, arresting 52 persons all of whom were held under $500 bond each and could not obtain their release.

The rioting was momentarily quelled yesterday afternoon when guardsmen fired into the mobs that milled about the plant, killing Frank Hubay, 27, and Steve Gylgon, 20. Hubay was shot four times and Gylgon was fatally wounded in the head.

"Sincere regret" was expressed by Brig. Gen. Connolly over the bloodshed during the rioting.

"But," he declared, "we must and will handle the situation. When the rush was started, some of our men were compelled to shoot to save themselves. There was no order from headquarters. Unfortunately, the crowd didn't believe we would shoot, but we are here to restore peace and we intend to do it."

USED 'KNOCKOUT GAS'

The respite in the fighting late yesterday was brief, breaking out anew at dusk when the strikers and their sympathizers tore up the streets in the vicinity of the plant and began hurling rocks at the guardsmen who, in turn, used "knockout gas" freely to put the attackers to flight. On one occasion, the guardsmen were forced to restore to gunfire in which two were wounded.

A total of nine persons was wounded in the almost continuous fighting yesterday. Two score of others were hurt by flying rocks and missiles. This morning, it was conservatively estimated that at least 125 had been injured in the wild melee.

Among those injured was Lieut. Cecil Clark of Fremont, O., who was knocked down by a hurled brick as he was leading a charge of troopers against a gang of rioters. Second Lieut. Carl Goffel of Napoleon, also was injured. He was struck on the nose by another hurled missile.

Another casualty was Willie Abel, 26, star soccer player. He was shot in the hip and his condition was reported to be critical as a result of the loss of blood. It was believed a transfusion would be necessary to save his life.

The majority of the casualties, however, were due to hurled stones, rocks, bricks and clubs. Many suffered from the heavy barrage of tear gas which was laid down by the soldiers to repulse the attacks of the rioting mobs.

Gas fumes from scene of the rioting was fanned by a strong north wind last night and blown into the downtown sections, much to the discomfort of people in the business district.

FELL OFF ROOFS

During the final sortie last night, several of the rioting mob were injured when they fell from house-roofs from which they were hurling missiles at the national guardsmen.

A well-placed gas bomb was hurled on one roof and three men were seen to fall to the ground.

Property damage in the vicinity of the besieged manufacturing plant was estimated at more than $225,000. Officials of the Electric Auto-Lite Co., said that damages to their plant alone would amount to at least $175,000, and it was estimated that damage to other property, including streets which were torn up, would total another $50,000.

from himself, but from hundreds of his supporters throughout the state. He estimated that 95 per cent of his nominating petitions were circulated by persons who voluntarily offered their services. He has sent out but one letter inquiring about the sentiment for the three candidates mentioned for the Democratic senatorial nomination. He said it was mailed on Feb. 10 to 150 county committee chairmen and secretaries and to the same number of Democratic officeholders.

"The result of his circular letter," he declared, "was better than 60 per cent favorable to my candidacy. The percentage of Democratic officeholders who thought I should be a candidate was even greater."

When the candidacy of his former secretary of agriculture, Truax, was mentioned, Donahey said:

TRUAX HAS RIGHT

"I have not talked to Truax nor have I had anyone else talk to him about his candidacy. He has a perfect right to be a candidate. I have never tried to get rid of my opposition by keeping candidates out of the primaries."

Because Donahey is credited with giving Truax his start in state politics, some supporters of the former governor have said to Truax, out of gratitude, should not seek the same nomination.

Donahey's declaration of candidacy did contain what observers interpreted as a veiled thrust at Truax, who has frequently mailed from Washington to his constituents copies of his speeches in Congress.

"Except upon individual request," said Donahey, "my speeches will not be mailed to the people of Ohio at public expense—not at my own expense."

"If I have anything to explain to the Ohio folks I will come back home and do it looking them in the eye after the vote is recorded. On the other hand, I will invite the citizens of Ohio to give me sincere and helpful information."

He said he has not asked for the primary endorsement of any County Executive Committee, "but will appreciate endorsement by votes of any county at the August Primary election."

Here are some of the planks in Donahey's partial platform:

"I believe in the honesty and sincerity of President Roosevelt. If elected, I shall consider it my sworn duty to recommend only honest and capable people for government positions and also to assist in bringing about removal of those unworthy of public trust. "Selfish machine politics indulged in by either party, or by individuals, in these tragic times, is nothing less than treason."

"Excessive profits from natural resources and quasi-governmental monopoly must be regulated with an iron hand."

"Taxation methods will have to be simplified. We should devise more uniformity and do away with unscientific tax tinkering.

AGAINST INCREASE

"I will vote against any increase in federal taxation unless a real emergency exists. I will expend my every energy to secure for America an honest uniform taxation system based on ability to pay."

"Excessive profits in business promote waste, stimulate cupidity and create disrespect for law. Such practices must be eradicated."

"Actual capital honestly invested is entitled to a fair earning, but all things being equal, in a conflict between human rights and property rights, my vote will go to humanity."

"There should be no relinquishment of the debts owed us by European nations."

Donahey concluded by saying he would "pose as an intellectual giant, but I yield to no man in my understanding of the people's problems, love of country and loyalty to the people of Ohio."

The Month of Roses

THEY call June the month of roses. The rose has been called the queen of flowers. If a vote were taken as to the most popular blooming plant, probably the rose would be elected. "Rosy" cheeks are often considered the symbol of feminine beauty. Roses have played a great part in home life. The old-time cottage usually had its rose bushes, and their festive blooms soled the old folks for their toilsome lives. Roses thrive best in mild and sunny climates, but they are supposed to grow almost anywhere in the temperate zone. If gardeners do not have good luck growing them, their methods of cultivation are probably faulty. They go far to decorate a dwelling or neighborhood, that people can well be urged to plant them. They will feel well rewarded for the battle with weeds and insects, when these vines burst forth in their annual splendor. The rose covered cottage has long been a symbol of domestic bliss. People can be happier there surrounded by this blushing loveliness, than they would expect to be in a gorgeous palace with its cares and burdens.

The Farmer's Discoveries

PERHAPS the most encouraging phase of the farmer's troubles is that they have caused him to look with a new and inquiring mind on economic and social problems. He has discovered that the world has changed much—that methods that were good 30 years ago are disastrous now. He is finding out that no one can prosper alone in a world in which the interests of every business, every producer, are inextricably intermingled. He is finding that the co-operative ideal—whether in industry, or agriculture, or simply social relationships—points the road to stability and permanence. During the depression thousands of farmers have joined co-operatives. Thousands of others have redoubled their efforts in behalf of their co-operative, where before they simply held "passive" memberships. These are the farmers that are applying real business methods to farming and that are in the line to profit in the future.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

"Hurry, John Harmon! There's an omelet. I've learned the trick at last, but do hurry, darling, so we can gobble it up before anything happens to it!"

He came out to her then, his hair rumpled, a determined smile on his face. He helped her put the omelet and the coffee and the platter of bacon on the table. She was gay and flushed and very lovely in a crisp violet smock.

"Good day?" he asked casually, to make conversation.

"Quite. Sold a set of Balzac—a very rare set. Mr. Rose nearly wept when I wrapped it up."

"You don't find it dull?"

"Quiet but never dull. There are books that are better company than people—I'm just discovering it."

"Yes, I know. I've felt like that about some of them."

"How long did you sit up writing last night, John Harmon?"

"Oh, not so long. I didn't get anywhere, either—that's the worst of it—threw everything I wrote in to the waste-basket. The book is going stale on me, Stan." Suddenly he stopped eating and buried his face in his hands.

"Just exactly what do you mean by that, John Harmon?"

"Just that. I can't explain it but I've lost the heart for it." Abruptly his head came up and he was speaking quickly, bitterly. "A smart novel about smart people—my heavens, Stanley, the irony of it! When the only people I ever see are so darn drab and uninteresting! You can't live the way we do and write about the sort of people that are in my book—it's a joke, a miserable joke! I'm going to ask Maynard to give me a job at the office—a regular job pounding a typewriter. It's all I'm good for anyway!"

Stanley felt her breath tighten in her throat. He had included her in "drab and uninteresting people," he had said, "You can't live the way we do." He had not meant to but he had hurt her—hurt her terribly. He had ruthlessly and carelessly snatched away something sweet and rather precious, that was her delight, in this life they had made together.

But more than she was hurt she was concerned for John Harmon. The book must really be going stale or he would never have spoken like that; would not be sitting there now, scowling and heavy-eyed letting her precious omelet sink slowly into a dejected heap on the platter. And the book was John Harmon—it was a definite part of him, he couldn't give it up and still be himself. John Harmon without the urge to write would be like a lamp with the flame snuffed out, a grate filled with gray ashes instead of glowing coal; just another dull person instead of a real, vital individual with a keen enthusiasm and an impetuous zest for living.

Suddenly Stanley forgot her own hurt in this clear conception of John Harmon no longer writing a novel but working in an office, his typewriter quiet, his study unused. And in her concern she spoke sharply.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself—sitting there like a sulky child, saying you won't play any more! Did you think you were never going to hit a snag, run up against difficulties and discouragement? Just because you've got talent and a spark of genius and can write pages that don't have to have a line rewritten doesn't mean you can go on that way indefinitely. The trouble with you, John Harmon, is that you've kept at it too long. What you need is to get away from it for a while—get outdoors and forget it and let your head clear up—for a month!"

"How's 'Gloria' coming?" Stanley would ask casually.

His head came up from where he had dropped it against his clenched hands. He stared at her with tortured eyes. He had expected her to understand—or had he? Anyway, she hadn't. She thought this thing that had happened to him was something that fresh air would cure! As though it was a silly headache or a fit of temper or something equally ridiculous! Then, as he stared at her, the anger went out of his eyes, out of his tightened mouth—oh, how sweet she looked, and how troubled; with that little frown between her eyes and her cheeks very pink and her hair flung back like that from her forehead—and she was his, he had held her in his arms, loved her.

"I'm a fool, darling—a selfish fool." He jumped up and went around the table and took her in his arms. Or what really happened was—he went into her arms. For the moment anyway he was the bewildered child and she the consoling mother. Perhaps in a few minutes that he knelt beside her and clung to her, John Harmon was more ingenious with her than he had ever allowed himself to be before. For a time, at least, he forgot himself completely in his need of her; he was content to sweet and gentle release from the restraint which had been so much a part of

Early Treatment Will Often Result in a Complete Cure

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

I AM OFTEN asked whether gallstones are dangerous and if they should be removed. It is true that stones may remain for years without causing distress, but it is a different matter when they are the cause of irritation and inflammation. If this happens and they are left in place they will in time severely damage the gallbladder and the bile passages.

Many persons believe gallstones can be dissolved by medicine. Unfortunately this is not possible. Once stones have formed in the gallbladder they can be removed only by mechanical means. It is too bad that the mistaken idea they can be "dissolved" is so common. There is no doubt that many decide against operation in the hope and expectation of dissolving the stones by internal medication.

Others refuse the operation because they fear that removal of the gall bladder may lead to further discomfort and annoying complaints. But it should be borne in mind that the gall bladder is not an absolutely essential organ. By this I mean that its removal does not result in harm, such as the creation of digestive or other disturbances. On the contrary, failure to get rid of a diseased gallbladder is responsible for many digestive disturbances, and impairment of health.

As I have said, the gallbladder is not a vital organ, like the kidney or the liver. It is a receptacle for storing the bile used in the process of digestion. The bile itself is formed in the liver. When the gallbladder is removed, the bile is carried from the liver directly to the upper end of the small intestine. Here it mixes with food from the stomach and aids the other digestive juices in completing digestion.

In former years the presence of gallstones and the existence of inflammation of the gallbladder were often difficult to determine. With the discovery of the X-ray machine and the development of certain physical and chemical tests the diagnosis has become comparatively simple.

Value of X-Ray

In these modern days it is possible actually to visualize the gallbladder by means of an X-ray picture. A special dye is taken internally. This seems to cast a shadow on the X-ray plate and makes a picture which outlines the size and shape of the gallbladder. Gallstones may be the cause of an obstruction which entirely changes the picture.

My advice to every sufferer from gallbladder disturbance is to give heed to the first signs of discomfort. Early stages of inflammation respond to medical treatment. Disease of this organ can be prevented, too, by proper diet, but stones can be removed only by surgery.

Do not neglect or delay the operation. Modern surgery has minimized the dangers of this formerly dreaded operation. It is now performed with comparative safety when done at the right time. Postponement of the operation may lead to extensive inflammation and infection. This increases the dangers of surgery and prolongs convalescence.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Solving the problem of how to film some of the thrilling scenes in "I Cover the Waterfront" showing Saturday on the Cliftona screen, while the camera boats were pitching and rolling on the high seas, technicians on the staff of Director James Cruze perfected a new type of gyroscopic tripod and microphone crane that permitted perfect photography and sound recording under the most difficult conditions.

The Reliance Company, bringing the adaptation of Max Miller's best-selling book to the screen for United Artists, with Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon and Ernest Torrence in the principal roles, spent considerable time on location in the ocean off San Diego, San Pedro and Monterey, California. It was at the latter place that the motion picture outfit, cruising in the hope of finding a couple of sharks to fit the story action, ran into a whole school of the sea terrors, some of them 25 feet long and weighing nearly three tons.

AT THE GRAND

Ken Maynard, Universal western star, now playing in the gripping drama, "Strawberry Roan," has just won the right to be called Hollywood's only "triple threat" actor.

Ken, who will be seen at the Grand theatre next Friday, in the picture, has just purchased a racing yacht 42 feet in length, capable of sleeping five people, and has mastered the art of navigating it.

This makes him at home on the sea. He has conquered the air as an airplane pilot. And he claims that he can ride anything on land, from a horse to a motorcycle.

HIGHWAY PATROL ON DUTY MAY 30

All State Highway Patrolmen will be on active patrol duty Decoration Day, May 30, in order to assure maximum safety for the heavy volume of holiday traffic.

Colonel Lynn Black, patrol superintendent, has issued orders to the effect that every highway patrolman is to be on duty from 8 a. m. Memorial Day until 2 a. m. the next morning.

Col. Black pointed out that the patrolmen are to be especially vigilant in rendering any possible assistance to motorists as well as keeping the great amount of holiday motor travel flowing safely.

DIRTY FEET
Copyrighted by Charles R. Bowers

I wonder if the boys who live today
Are different from the boys of years ago;
If they still fight when at their work or play,
And hate to dry the dirty dishes so;
I wonder if their mothers they deceive
As slyly they slip up the stairs at night
And jump into their beds; there's not to leave
The marks from dirty feet on sheets so white;
I wonder if they still so soundly sleep
And have the dreams like used to come to me
When I would curl myself up in a heap
And happy in the arms of Morpheus be.

How well I recollect that boyish ruse
Which I would nightly play on mother there,
For when her back was turned to me I'd lose
No time and scampered up the old back stair;
I knew my feet were black as inky coal
And in my exit I was doing wrong;
On mother dear I thought a march I stole,
Perchance I soon would sing a different song;
I'd jump into that snow-white bed
And mother soon was on an errand there;
She'd pull the covers off from foot to head
And you may guess that I was deep in prayer.

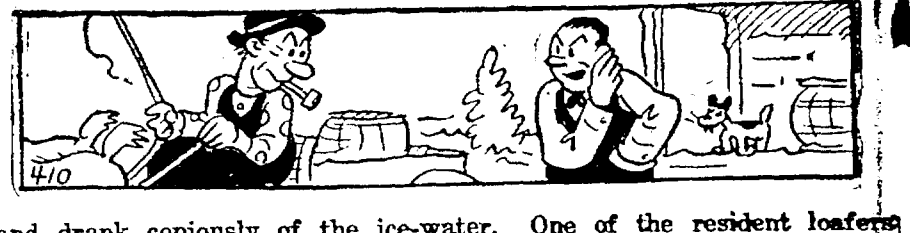

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

In the Safety Zone

By IRVIN S. COBB

A MAINE farmer with a reputation for frugality which was more than local drove up to the general store. He halted his team, dismounted from his wagon, entered and passed the time of day with those present. This formality concluded, he drifted over to the cooler and drank copiously of the ice-water. One of the resident loafers furnished him with tobacco for his pipe and another provided a match. Then he picked up a handy bucket and went out to water his horses. Returning, he begged a dab of axle grease with which to anoint one of his wheels. This seemed to remind him that a tire was slipping, so he asked the proprietor to lend him a hammer, for a few minutes. While the obliging storekeeper was searching his stock for a hammer, the visitor made a light but satisfying luncheon of cheese, sliced from the cube on the counter, a couple of soda-crackers, plucked from a handy barrel, and a few segments of dried apple.

After this, apparently, he could think of nothing else. He had mounted to his seat and was driving away when the storekeeper hailed him:

"Say, Bill," he called out, "if you should find, later in the day, that you've lost your purse, remember you didn't have it out while you was here!"

NEW DINE-DANCE BUSINESS OPENS

The opening of a new dine and dance establishment, which will be known as the Scioto Trail Beer Garden and Barbecue is being announced today by Sam Schill and Ted Baughman, proprietors. Located conveniently near Columbus and about 20 miles north of Circleville, on State Route 23, the management aims to cater to the pleasure seeking people of both cities.

The construction work on the new beer garden has been completed and everything is in readiness for the opening which will be held Saturday evening to continue through Sunday and Sunday night. Dancing may be enjoyed to a competent Columbus orchestra at the opening, and every night thereafter, and for Saturday evening a special floor show and other entertainment is being arranged.

Mr. Schill, one of the new owners, is associated in the ownership of the Outdoor Military Co., Columbus, and is also an experienced man in the promotion of enjoyable entertainment of this nature. Mr. Baughman has been connected with the old Scioto Trail Barbecue for several years. William Duga will manage the new place.

L. E. Riggins, formerly of Circleville, will be one of the honored guests of the management Saturday evening.

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Circleville and this vicinity to attend the opening or visit them in the near future.

Marian Martin Pattern

MARIAN MARTIN USES CHIC LINES IN THE HOUSE
Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included.
PATTERN 9039

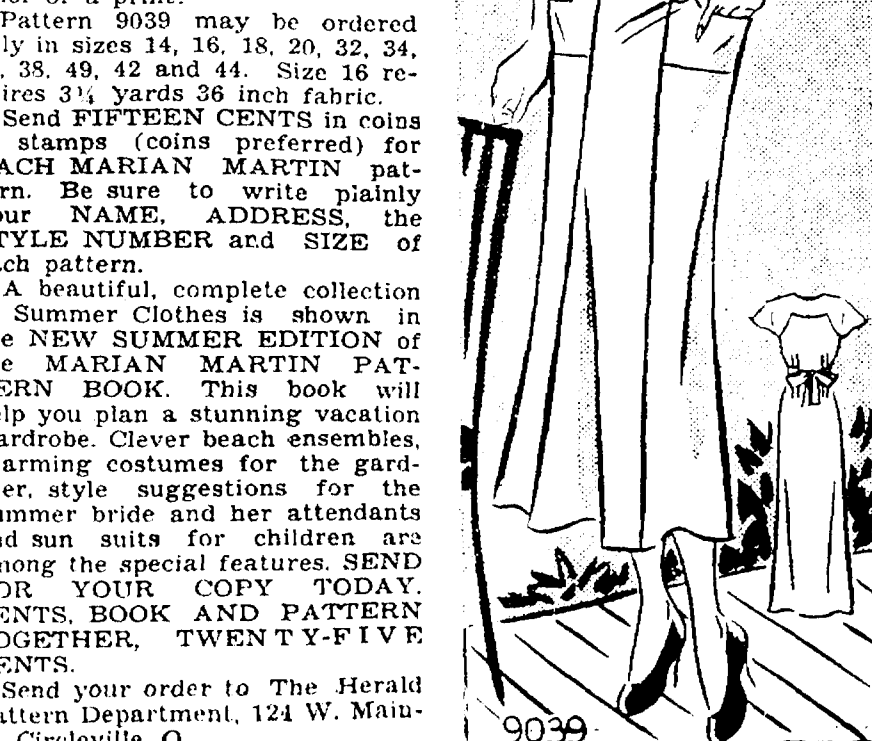

It is just a little house frock—nothing to make—but its lines are so good they wouldn't disgrace an evening gown. After all a pretty woman should be pretty every minute of the time—and a woman who isn't so pretty can make everyone think she is if she chooses her dresses right. The coat-like lines of this model are very flattering; they make one look tall and slim—and the cape shoulders are as smart as can be. Imagine it in your most becoming color or a print!

Pattern 9039 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

A beautiful, complete collection of Summer Clothes is shown in the NEW SUMMER EDITION of the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK. This book will help you plan a stunning vacation wardrobe. Clever beach ensembles, charming costumes for the garden, style suggestions for the Summer bride and her attendants and sun suits for children are among the special features. THE SYMBOL OF A NATION'S GRATEFUL REMEMBRANCE!

SIXTEEN years since the joyful news of the Armistice rang around the world. To most of us the time has passed quickly. It seems only yesterday that we reviewed our returning heroes marching home. The cheers and tears of joy are still vividly before us.

But what long years they have been to those mourning Gold Star Mothers. What long years they've been to those crippled, shell-shocked, blinded and maimed martyrs, many of whom are but merely marking time to the relief that will be theirs when taps are sounded. What price glory if they be denied on this day dedicated to remembrance.

There is no tribute that can recompense for what they have contributed. But we can manifest to them today that they are not forgotten. Our debt can only be expressed in the honor, reverence and admiration for their nobility. Their victory and sacrifices will stand as a national heritage to enrich the loyalty and patriotism of American posterity.

We've adopted the Poppy as a mute acknowledgment of the honor we accord them. As we wear it on our breasts may its red glow warm their hearts, cheer their spirits and temper their ills. May it convey to them the message of a nation's undying gratitude.

MEATS CLUB 20 TO 19 WIN

The game of round-town was played in the softball league last evening with the McCarren's taking a 20-19 victory over the Circle City City. The McCarren's took an early lead but saw it fade away in the late innings. They scored a winning run in the last of the ninth with two out. The Meats scored three in the eighth against two for the dairies and added three more in the third while Earl Imbler's team was counting once. The Circle City outfit scored seven runs in the fifth on three hits, five errors, and two bases on balls but the McCarren's countered four in their half to tie the score.

DEADLOCKED OFTEN
The meat-men again went ahead in the sixth scoring three times but the dairymen tied it up with three in the seventh. A deadlock existed going into the eighth which the Circle City broke with two runs. The McCarren's got hot in their part of the inning to score six runs but the Circle City nine tied it up with fourth in their part of the ninth. Then came the McCarren's winning run. Hitting on both sides was terrific but errors played an even greater part in the scoring. The Circle City team was guilty of 11 miscues while the McCarren's committed an even dozen. Carl Wallace and Leonard Bush on the mound for the teams each walked five. Eldridge led the hitters with four blows one going for the circuit while Smalley and Smyers each had three for the winners. It was Denny's hit that scored Smyers with the winning run in the ninth.

Umpires were Scott and Dade. OVERRULE PROTEST

PROFITABLE PROVERB RULES

Each day for a period of four weeks The Herald will print one of a series of cartoons representing some well known proverb or saying.

Contestants solve the picture puzzles by writing the proverb that the cartoon suggests or illustrates in the blanks below the pictures.

Prizes totaling $37.50 in cash, will be awarded those sending in complete or near complete picture sets with the best and most appropriate answer to the picture published.

In cases of ties, neatness and originality of presentation will be considered.

Cartoons should not be sent to the paper until the series is complete.

Only one answer may be given to a picture.

Only one member of a family will be given a prize, the award going to the person in the family submitting the best set.

Employees of The Herald or members of their family are not eligible to compete in the contest.

The answers may be written in pen, pencil, printed or type-written.

At the close of the contest send your entries to the Profitable Proverb Contest Editor of The Herald.

Any person submitting answers agrees to accept as final, the decision of the judges in awarding prizes.

About This And That

BY THE
SECOND GUESSER

No league ball game is scheduled this evening but that doesn't mean there won't be some action on the S. O. Electric field.—The Eshelman Feeds take on a Stoutsville team in what should be a good ball game.

A real ball game is on Sunday's schedule with the Container Corporation's fast team booking the Golco nine of Columbus.—The Golcos have practically the entire Franklin Platter outfit that appeared here several times last year.—Manager R. E. Norris will call on Pud Oliver to spike the guns of the fast Columbus outfit.—It is possible two games will be played.

The Circleville Oils, defeated in two of their three league games, have decided to do something about it.—In the first place George Crum, who ran the Gordon Tire team a couple of years ago, will assist Dorthy Courtwright in running the team and will probably have a loud voice in its destinies from now on.—The first thing he announced was the addition of Don White, released by the Mecca Restaurants.—Crum said White would go to right field.—He also announced that Bob Pickens had been obtained and would immediately hop on third base with Art Stee going to shortstop and Eve Merriman to second where he plays his best ball.—Raymond Smith, city policeman, who is unable to play often because of his hours, will be retained to be used when possible.—Don White will be the first man to the plate in the batting order, Crum declared.

Next week's games include:
Monday: Eshelman Feeds vs. Given Oils.
Tuesday: Circle City Dairy vs. Circleville Oils.
Wednesday: Purina Chows vs. Mecca Restaurant.
Thursday: McCarren Meats vs. Container Corporation.

Stubblefield Possesses Strong Finishing Record

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 24.—H. W. "Stubby" Stubblefield, youthful speed addict who has been nominated to pilot the two-cycle Cummins Diesel entry in the 500-mile race at the Speedway here May 30, boasts a finisher's record on the local track that compares favorably with that of his team mate, Dave Evans, whose cars have never stopped short of the finish wire in five starts.

BUCKEYE HARRIERS MEET AT DELAWARE

DELAWARE, May 25.—Nearly 200 bronzed athletes arrived in Delaware today to take part in the ninth annual Buckeye conference track meet, the preliminaries of which are to get under way this afternoon.

Miami university is generally conceded as the likely winner of the meet. The Redskins defeated Ohio University, the other probable winner, 69 to 62 in a dual meet earlier in the season. Miami also swamped Ohio Wesleyan and Cincinnati by the same score—103 to 28—in dual meets.

is the most economical car in the world

Engineering facts prove it. Experience in building nearly ten million cars confirms it. And the record of over 3,000,000 Chevrolet Six owners removes any shadow of doubt about it: The only way to get real economy in a low-priced car is to insist on SIX cylinders and OVERHEAD valves.

SIX cylinders—no more!—because extra cylinders mean extra cost for gas, oil, upkeep and parts. OVERHEAD valves—nothing else!—for the same good reason that airplanes use them. And speedboats. And racing cars. They get the MOST power out of the LEAST gas. That's why overhead valves are the choice of leaders—and champions.

Franklin Price to Sing Soldier Role in Verdi's "Il Trovatore"

Franklin Price, of Jackson-twp., is a tenor with the Columbus Civic Opera company, is to be seen in the role of the two soldiers cast as special guard for the fiery Azucena, in the performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore," being presented at Memorial Hall Tuesday evening by the Columbus Civic Opera company. It will be given in English.

The role of Azucena is to be portrayed by Madame Maria Wittkowska, who is internationally acclaimed as the greatest of modern sopranos. Other principal roles are to be sung by Blair Stewart, brilliant young tenor who is well known for his broadcasts over stations WJY and WAIU, Herald A. Imhoff, popular baritone who has several successful performances with the civic opera company to his credit; Ellis Hopkins Selby, Balford Cheddie, Helen Stevenson, Harold E. Matthews and Don Leach.

Stewart sings the tenor role of Manrico, Imhoff that of Count de Luna and Mrs. Selby, the principal soprano role of Leonora.

The opera is also to be heard at a special students' dress rehearsal matinee at Memorial Hall this Saturday afternoon.

M. E. LADIES' AID HAS DOLLAR DAY
A good attendance was present at the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Ladies' Aid society Thursday afternoon, when the society observed its annual dollar day.

Each member told how she earned a dollar, which she gave to the treasury and a social hour followed during which time refreshments were served in charge of Miss Mattie Gearhart and Mrs. Charles Stoffer.

Senior Class Play Wins Plaudits of Huge Crowd

The senior class play of the local high school "Buttered Side Down" written by E. K. Povenmire, history and dramatics instructor, is a most enjoyable three act folk comedy.

The play is full of clever and witty sayings to which the audience, attending the first presentation, Thursday evening, responded very pleasantly. Fifteen members of the class took part each, portraying his part in a very creditable manner. Although the players deserve commendation for their portrayals, a great amount of the credit and praise for the success of the performance should go to the author, Mr. Povenmire, who also directed the presentation.

Following the dinner at 6 o'clock a short business session was conducted. Final arrangements for the banquet to be held at St. Philip's Parish house, June 7, at which time the club will entertain the girl graduates, were made.

Reports were heard on the state convention held last week at the Neil House in Columbus, by the delegates, Miss Charlotte McEwing newly elected president, and Miss Elizabeth Drum, past president.

The next regular meeting will be held June 14, at which time Mrs. Mary Morris and Mrs. Harp Van Tupper will tell about their trip to the West Virginia state convention held recently at Fairmont, W. Va.

MR. AND MRS. STOUT ENTERTAIN THURSDAY

Mr. and Mrs. James Stout, E. Franklin-st., entertained the members of Mrs. Stout's bridge club and their husbands at a delightful party at their home Thursday evening.

Five hundred was the diversion of the enjoyable hours and trophies were presented Mrs. John Goodchild, Mrs. Clarence Wolf, Rockford Brown and Roy Grace.

Delectable refreshments were served at the small tables after the game.

In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. Melvin S. Rinehart, S. Scioto-st.

THREE WILL BE WEEK-END GUESTS IN CHILLICOTHE

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Pinckney-st., Mrs. Margaret Dick of Mt. Sterling, Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker and Mrs. John Dunlap Sr., of Williamsport, and Mrs. N. S. Cook of Columbus, were among the guests at a luncheon Friday given by Mrs. Mandane Lutz at her home in Chillicothe.

Mrs. Hornbeck, Mrs. Dick and Mrs. Cook remained for a house party over the week-end at Mrs. Lutz' home.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. WEILER

Members of her bridge club and Mrs. Paul Helwren were guests of Mrs. Ernest Weiler, N. Pickaway-st., when she entertained with an evening of cards at her home Thursday.

Cards were enjoyed at two tables and high score prizes went to Mrs. Paul Carruthers and Mrs. Weiler. A dainty lunch was served after the game.

John Robinson as Dorsey Upham, their son; Margie Brown as Eloise, with whom Dorsey is in love; Lee Cook as Gus, a good natured fellow also in love with Eloise; William Ashbrook as Henry Miller, village postmaster, and Robert May as Prof. George Ebright, who used to stutter.

All these actors portrayed their roles with much assurance. Lyman England as "Pop" was especially good having a great number of lines to commit. Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick as his wife, Elly, also deserves special mention in her part. Thomas Harmon, Lee Cook, Betty Brown and William Ashbrook were well cast.

The entire play takes place in Hotel Water Cress and centers around the activities of "Pop" and his attempts to help solve other persons' troubles. It is typical of real life in a small mid-western town.

OTHERS HAVE PARTS

Others taking part besides those already mentioned were Ruth Newland and Mary Curran as Alvirra and Penelope Jones, respectively, guests at the hotel; Charlotte Moore, Betty Barnes and Margaret Bower as Mary, Martha, and Maude, town folks; and Russell Skaggs as Mr. Larsen, also a guest at the hotel.

A large crowd attended the performance and preceding the presentation and between acts music was furnished by the high school orchestra, directed by J. Gill.

The play will be repeated tonight at 8 o'clock.

packing house, who arrived at the bullet-riddled automobile in time to see the killer's car disappearing toward Chicago.

He notified East Chicago authorities immediately and Police Chief Maker sped to the scene of the killing with a corps of detectives.

Maker said both officers knew Dillinger by sight and for that reason had been assigned to patrol the area to watch for the desperado.

SOUTH HOLLAND, Ill., May 25.—One bandit was shot dead and another was critically wounded today when five masked men, reported to be members of the John Dillinger gang, raided the South Holland Trust and Savings bank.

Joseph P. De Young, father of Peter De Young, who was killed in a similar raid on the same bank last January, was the sharpshooter who shot down one of the bandits and wounded another.

De Young was posted in a steel cage on the balcony, where he keeps constant vigil, when the five bandits, their faces partially masked with white handkerchiefs, rushed into the lobby.

In the bank at the time were Charles E. Waterman, president; his son, Milton H. Waterman, cashier, and Herman Bykema, assistant cashier. All were prepared for just such an emergency.

OPENED FIRE

As two of the bandits leaned on a counter and shouted, "This is a stickup," the three bank officials fell to the floor. At the same instant De Young opened fire.

The bandits were panic stricken at the sudden turn of affairs. One of the masked men, on the counter, fell mortally wounded. De Young then trained his rifle on the other man on the counter. One burst of fire and he fell to the floor with a thud.

Only one shot was fired by the bandits and that went astray. As their two companions fell from the counter, one of the remaining three bandits shouted:

"Let's get out of here."

SHOT FROM STREET

Running to the street the trio leaped into a waiting Ford V8. As they did so the wounded bandit who had been left in the bank staggered in the direction of the door. At this instant Neal Van Kanegan, operator of a garage across the street from the bank, seized a high-powered rifle and opened fire.

One of Van Kanegan's bullets crashed through the bank's front window and struck the wounded bandit as he reached for the knob. Then, directing his attention on the fleeing automobile, Van Kanegan fired again and was believed to have hit one of the men in the car.

Let The Meal Be Remembered By A Good Dessert

The surest way to finish a meal successfully is to have a knock-out dessert. It's the case of a last impression leaving the favorable smile, so it isn't such bad reasoning to plan the whole meal backwards, from the dessert to the soup.

Rhubarb is splendid for a tart touch and a pie often hits the spot.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie
2 C. diced rhubarb 1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 C. sugar 1 tsp. lemon juice
1 C. milk 1/4 tsp. vanilla
2 egg yolks 2 egg whites
1/4 C. sugar 4 Tbsp. sugar
2 Tbsp. flour

Stew the rhubarb and 1/4 C. sugar until soft. Cool and add the milk and beaten egg-yolks with 1/4 C. sugar, flour, vanilla and salt. Add lemon juice. Pour into a 9-inch pie plate lined with pastry and bake as directed for pies with custard fillings. The pie shell may be baked for 10 minutes before adding the filling, at a temperature of 450 degrees. With the filling in, bake 35 to 50 minutes at 350 degrees. Cover with a meringue made of the 2 egg whites and 4 Tbsp. sugar, and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) until the meringue is a delicate brown. If the meringue is sprinkled with sugar the browning will make a crisp top.

Delicate Banana Cake

A cake that contains the banana pulp right in the meat of the cake is something that we thought for a long time just didn't exist. Putting the bananas in the filling was considered the last word in darning. If you are fond of bananas, here is your chance to try them right in a cake.

1/2 C. butter 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 C. sugar 1/2 tsp. salt
2 eggs 1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 C. banana pulp 1/2 tsp. soda
1/4 C. sour milk 1/4 tsp. orange extract (or orange juice)
2/3 C. pastry flour 1/4 C. sugar

Cream butter, add sugar gradually and beat until light. Add well-beaten eggs and mix well. Add banana pulp which has been mashed or pressed through a potato ricer and the extracts. Sift and measure flour, add baking powder and salt to flour and sift three times. Add soda to sour milk. Add the flour alternately with the milk to the first mixture and beat well. Bake in two 8-inch layer pans, that are well greased or paper lined, for 25 to 30 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from pan cool. Frost with a coffee icing made with confectioners' sugar.

Strawberry Curls

Make a biscuit dough with:
2 C. flour 4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt 4 Tbsp. shortening
1 egg 1/2 C. milk

Add shortening to dry ingredients and mix well with a fork. Beat egg slightly and add milk. Add to flour mixture. Add 1 Tbsp. sugar, roll out dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Spread with butter. Use 1/2 C. sliced strawberries, 2 Tbsp. soft butter and 1/4 C. sugar. Sprinkle buttered dough with strawberries that have been sugared. Roll for 25 to 30 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from pan cool. Frost with a coffee icing made with confectioners' sugar.

Egypt, the cradle of civilization, was great before either Greece or Rome was born. The valley of the Nile furnished the stage for the greatest drama of the past. Here were reared Egypt's stupendous pyramids, temples and monuments in the highest form of architecture to honor her great, while the rest of mankind was living in rude huts. Time has made but slight changes in the land of the pharaohs. Egypt does not change.
